Local Briefs Correction

In last week's edition of The Romulus Roman, the words "As Amended" were inadvertently dropped from the City of Romulus' legal: "Amendment to Cable Communications Franchise Ordinance".

The two words should be inserted after Section 1801-512 and just before the paragraph that begins with Section 4.4-5; Section (12).

The Romulus Roman regrets the error and any inconvenience it may have caused.

Soup Kitchen

The Wayne Metro Regional III Advisory Council has opened a soup kettle at its Service Center, 35408 Beverly Road, and will offer free dinners to the unemployed and low income families.

Dinners will be served from noon to 3 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Officials say that because all food and supplies are donated, they are in need of a commercial refrigerator, large coffee urn, commercial deep fryer, kitchen utensils and food processor.

Casino Night

The Huron School District Extra-Curricular Activities' Committee will stage its second "Casino Night" on Sat., Oct. 22, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., at the Huron Valley F.O.E. Hall, 13636 Telegraph Road.

Call 753-9394 or 782-1418 for advance ticket sales. Refreshments will be available.

Getting a Head Start

Romulus and Van Buren Head Start workers recently took part in the Wayne County Task Force Child Abuse's "Family-O-Rama Day" staged at the Westland Mall. Social workers with the local Head Start groups and parents involved in the program helped explain basic living skills to the children. Above, social worker Eleanor Kostecki (seated at left of puppet stage) explains a puppet-enacted play — BABES — an acronym that translates to "Beginning Alcohol and Addiction Basic Education". BABES is sponsored by the National Council on Alcoholism. The puppets were also used to teach children basic living skills. In the photo at the right, children meet the puppets and were allowed to stroke them after the performance.

Romulus OKs sewer project

By JERRY DesHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Romulus City Council voted 4-3 to adopt a resolution agreeing to pay the additional cost of $9,930 to be part of the South Huron Valley Wastewater Control System.

The system is an off-shoot of the Super Sewer system which was aborted and finally divided into a north and south system.

Romulus' share in the new south system (SHVWCS) is $174,396. The purpose of Mayor William Oakley's recommendation was to accommodate the increased cost of $9,930 which would bring the total to $184,326, the mayor pointed out.

Three councilmen dissented from the vote: Jimmy Raspberry, Alan Lambert, and John Lewkowicz.

Raspberry labeled the project as a "white elephant" and stated that the communities in the South Huron areas do not have the money to fund it.

Mayor Oakley defended the cost, saying that "we are in between a rock and a hard spot." He said that the money had already been spent and "if the project goes and we are not a part of it, shame on us."

In other business, pay raises for six sergeants and two lieutenants and one inspector were approved by council.

Mayor Oakley explained that the recent contract approved for the police department had resulted in patrol officers making as much money (and more including overtime) than command officers. The situation needed correction.

The pay raises amounted to $900 for sergeants and lieutenants with their new salary rates amounting to $22,600 and $23,900 respectively.

The inspector received a raise of $500, with a new rate of $25,700.

In two other items, council approved the request for authorization to let bids for an asphalt road patching program, prior to the cold weather; and approved a resolution for the city to construct temporary street approaches to county roads, with the county's permission.

In other matters, the council voted 6-0 with one abstention, to approve a 1-year contract to Meadowbrook Insurance, to provide insurance for the city. Councilman Pete Bergeron abstained.

Huron also joins area project

The South Huron Valley Wastewater Control System project was approved by the Huron Township Board 4-2 last week.

The project, which will involve a total capital cost of $34,956,964 will mean a $583,000 per year debt retirement cost to Huron Township after its third year in effect.

The total capital cost for Huron over a 25-year period will be $4,664,065.

The system, which involves Van Buren, Huron, Romulus, Flat Rock, Brownstown, Woodhaven and Gibraltar, will be paid on a "contract bond."

"Contract bond" involves the signing of the contract with Wayne County Public Works.

The county sells the bonds and each year for the life of the bond each community will pay their share to the County through the Board of Public Works.

The project, an offshoot of the disbanded "Super Sewer" project, will involve a wastewater treatment plant in Brownstown near Lake Erie, and an intercept-tor (huge sewer line which "lateral" sewer lines along streets connect to from households) located in Huron River Valley following Hannan Road from Romulus and Van Buren.

Two officials from the Wayne

The project is 75% federally funded. Should any community decide to go it alone they would have to pay the entire cost.

County Public Works Department, Jim Hamilton and Duane Egeland, were present at the meeting to explain the project.

Hamilton told the Huron Board that a signed contract was needed by Friday, Oct. 14 or the project would lose federal money.

The project is 75 percent federally funded. Should Huron or any community decide "to go it alone," they would have to pay the entire cost, Hamilton warned.

Some reluctance was discussed by the Huron Trustees since Huron's latter experiences with sewer projects have been less than satisfying.

Huron became involved in a wastewater treatment project prior to 1970 with the Wayne County Board of Public Works and the City of Flat Rock.

The project called for expansion of an existing treatment plant at Flat Rock and the building of an interceptor from South Huron and Clark Road to the treatment plant.

That project was supposed to be federally funded as a 3-community plan involving Sumpter, Flat Rock and Huron.

Sumpter withdrew. Huron was motivated to stick to the plan because it had been cited by the Water Resources Commission for pollution of the Huron River.

Because Sumpter withdrew, some grant funds were withheld.

The system cost a total of $4,950,000 in 1968. The Huron cost for the interceptor and laterals was $3,600,000 and $1,350,000 was the cost of the expansion of the treatment plant.

In 1974, Huron entered into another sewer bond issue for $1,600,000 to expand the local system, expanding local sewers into the Waltz and Willow areas.

Therefore, Huron Township currently has two debt retirement bonds to pay for sanitary sewer systems, making last Wednesday's decision difficult.

Cobb case

Murder exam set for Friday

The criminal examination of John Frye, charged with first degree murder in the death of Dixie Cobb, has been rescheduled for this Friday at 9 a.m. at 34th District Court.

The examination was previously scheduled to be held last Friday at 10 a.m. However the absence of Dr. Sawain Kalnluen who did the autopsy report and the reluctance of Gerald Whitman, an eyewitness to the murder, to testify without a lawyer, forced the proceeding to the postponement to this Friday.

Whitman explained that his attorney would be willing to testify if he is charged with assault advised him not to testify in this case without counsel or he may incriminate himself.

Asked if the court provided a lawyer would he be willing to testify and Whitman said yes.

Special Prosecutor Charles Seller noted to the court, presided over by Judge Henry Zaborowski, that the medical examiner Kalnluen had forgotten he was subpoenaed to be at the court.

Alan Helmkamp, defense attorney for Frye, noted to the Judge that if Kalnluen does not come next Friday he will ask the court to impose appropriate sanctions.

Frye is a co-defendant with Gregory Heisler in the murder of Dixie Cobb last June 20.

A criminal examination for the two took place July 6 and a trial was slated for September.

Heisler's trial was then adjourned to December and Frye's case was sent back to District Court for further information.

Landfill moratorium support is growing

By JERRY DesHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

Support for a one-year proposed moratorium on the issuance of landfill and toxic waste permits in Michigan is growing.

Huron Township Clerk Mary Lou Carey reported last week at the regular board meeting that she noted at several recent meetings which she attended regarding landfills that momentum is gaining for the moratorium among members of Gov. Jim Blanchard's staff, the DNR, the Michigan Municipal Association and the Michigan Association of Counties and Regions.

"We are all of the belief that resource recovery (converting waste to energy) is the answer to solving the solid waste problem in Michigan," Mrs. Carey said.

"What I heard was that incineration of solid waste at high (See MORATORIUM Page 3)

In Canton man's death

Driver charged in fatal accident

Negligent homicide charges have been filed against the driver of a car involved in an accident which fatally injured a motorcyclist.

Paul Michael Mallia, 19, of Dearborn Heights, was arraigned Friday in 34th District Court in Romulus. He was released on his own personal recognition.

The accident occurred on the evening of Aug. 13 on Goddard Road just east of Wayne Road.

The two vehicles hit almost head-on as Mallia was turning from the eastside of Goddard, north into a driveway, police said.

The motorcyclist, Terry Joseph Scanlon, 32 of Canton, was taken in critical condition to Wayne County General. He died Sept. 14.

Romulus police officer Michael Coffey arrived at the accident scene.

Sgt. Sam Chalton is in charge of the investigation.

Threatened to kill self

Romulus police subdue man

A 26-year-old Huron resident was subdued by Huron and Romulus police after he had fired upon them with a .22 calibre rifle Oct. 9, police report.

The incident occurred when Huron police got a call from the parents of the person who was described as "disturbed" because he was off his medication.

Huron officer Harold Ashby arrived at the home on Pennsylvania Road near Huron about 2:30 p.m.

Three Romulus police cars arrived as back-up.

Romulus officers Danny Snyder, Michael Ondejko, and Dave Bush assisted.

The suspect had left the home and went out in the backyard in a field armed with a .22 rifle and a shotgun.

He shouted to officers to fire upon him because he "wanted to die."

Huron officer Ashby consulted with the parents and was told that the shotgun didn't have the proper shells and that the .22 rifle had no ammunition.

The suspect then fired a couple of rounds from a distance of 200 yards in the officers' direction.

He fired from behind a constructed barricade.

The suspect then walked toward Pennsylvania Road where the officers attempted to reason with him to surrender.

Meanwhile, Romulus officer Dave Bush circled around from behind and jumped the suspect, and the other officers assisted in disarming him.

The suspect was taken to Wayne County Psychiatric Intervention Center of Wayne County General Hospital.

No charges are being sought.

From student survey

EPIC receives 'interesting' results from Romulus school survey

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Computer classes and field trips ranked high in a recent survey to determine interests of Romulus students.

Students in grades 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, and 12 all listed the electronic phenomenon and the traditional field trips as among the top 5 courses they would prefer to be reinstated in the schools.

The survey, constructed and distributed by a citizens' group (Educational Priorities Interpretations Committee) indicates a variety of interests reflecting age, maturity, and grade level.

All of the items listed were eliminated in large part in recent budget cuts.

More seriously, and perhaps strikingly, was the listing of "school supplies" as a needed restoration to the school program. The need for school supplies was a unanimous listing of students from grades 9, 10, 11 and 12.

Students in those same grades also listed "smaller class size" as a much needed item.

Students . . . listed the electronic phenomenon and the traditional field trips as among the top 5 courses they would prefer to be reinstated in the schools.

Interestingly, "programs for 'gifted and others'" was listed as a priority by 11th and 12th grade students, perhaps reflecting their divergent interests as they grow older.

The survey was given to 2799 students.

"I think the majority of the kids took it fairly seriously," said Pat Ditsch, a member of EPIC.

"They did it thoughtfully. The things they listed were not necessarily things of benefit to themselves," she said.

"For instance, many secondary students listed items such as pre-school and kindergarten screening programs higher than you might expect them to."

Ditsch said the students' top 5 priorities would be reported to the Board of Education, the parents, and the teachers.

The students priorities will also be considered when EPIC makes its recommendations to the Board of Education.

Eight members of EPIC prepared, distributed and collated the results of the survey.

Carrier of the Week Richard Commander

Special service and effort deserves a special reward...that's the reason the Associated Newspapers Circulation Department has chosen Richard Commander as the First Carrier of the Week.

Richard, 15, "going on 16" has been delivering the Wayne Eagle for two years now, and has made an impression on his 68 customers.

"I like doing a good job and I like most all of my customers," he said. I like delivering the papers. It's like a long walk once a week," he noted.

Richard, a tenth grade student, at Wayne Memorial, is saving part of his paper route money for college, although he is still undecided about his career goals.

His favorite school subject is computers and he is a member of the coin club, the science-fiction reading club and also enjoys a playing Dungeons and Dragons, at which he spends a great deal of his free time.

Richard is the son of Mark and Marlene Commander of First Street in Wayne and has four brothers, three of them older than he is — and all of whom helped him learn how to fold papers for proper delivery.

Richard is the son of Mark and Marlene Commander of First Street in Wayne and has four brothers, three of them older than he is — and all of whom helped him learn how to fold papers for proper delivery.

Richard was selected as the Carrier of the Week primarily due to a recent carrier contest to obtain new subscribers to the paper. Richard had more new customers than any other carrier.

His favorite thing about his route... "I sure enjoy collecting and getting paid," he noted with a laugh.

Carriers of the week will be selected by the Associated Newspapers Circulation Department based on prompt payment of bills, fewest customer complaints and overall outstanding achievement.

Subscribers may nominate any carrier they feel is doing an exceptional job by phoning Bob Turon at the Circulation Department, 729-4000 during regular business hours, or by mail, at P.O. Box 578, Wayne Mich., 48184.

Field to be dedicated in honor of community leader

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

The dedication of the Carl W. Morris Athletic Field in Romulus is scheduled for Oct. 28.

The Romulus School Board voted unanimously that the event take place on the Friday evening during halftime of the game between Romulus High School and Redford Thurston.

A memorial flag pole and plaque will be dedicated at the ceremony which will be attended by many county and state dignitaries.

Morris, a lifetime resident of Romulus, was a successful area businessman as president of the Huron Valley Oil Company, and he also dedicated much time to education.

He was a member of the Romulus Board of Education for 30 years, from 1947 through 1977, during which he served in all offices.

He also was a member of the Wayne County Intermediate Board of Education and served in all offices during his experience from 1957 up to his death in 1982.

The year preceding his death he was president of the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Morris was active in civic and fraternal affairs as well, for which he received numerous awards.

Among his accomplishments was obtaining federal money for the Romulus School District in the formative years of the late '40s and early '50s.

The public is invited to the Oct. 28 dedication. Members of the Carl Morris family will be attending.

Huron approves sewer funds

Hamilton and Egeland answered questions and doubts posed by Trustees Gary Bates, John Puskar, Bill Greierman and Fred Ashby, as well as Township Supervisor A.J. Haener and Clerk Mary Lou Carey.

Hamilton told the board that the new rate would be $1225 per million gallons of flow for treatment as opposed to Huron's current rate of $2400 per million, a savings of half.

Hamilton said that the federal "money is sitting there right now" and it was for Huron's benefit if the community was planning on continued growth.

All of the trustees and administrators expressed misgivings about the cost but the final vote came out for the project, with the exception of Trustees Bill Greierman and Fred Ashby.

"Only thing I have to say is," said Ashby, "if you can show me who's going to pay for it, and I'll support it."

In other matters, the question of parliamentary procedure was brought before the Board by a resident, Mrs. Louise Bosman.

She inquired why a Sept. 14 motion to table the consideration of the purchase of a computer until Sept. 28 was in an intervening week added to a Sept. 21 Waterboard meeting agenda and acted upon.

On Sept. 21, Borough's officials were at the Township Hall and agreed to meet with the trustees during a Waterboard meeting to answer a series of questions posed by the Board.

After the presentation a vote followed, 4-3 to purchase.

On Sept. 28, Trustee John Puskar, who had voted for the computer purchase, gave the opportunity to the Board to reconsider the Sept. 21 motion to purchase since they now had more time to reflect on the matter.

The motion to consider the purchase was then made and it passed again, this time by a 5-2 vote, gaining one tally.

Supervisor Haener allowed that the parliamentary procedure of voting on the matter on Sept. 21 at the Waterboard meeting was not proper but since there was unanimity among the trustees to proceed with the vote, there was no damage.

It was further pointed out by Supervisor A.J. Haener that it was felt appropriate to vote on the computer at the Waterboard meeting because the purchase of the computer is a joint venture.

The funds for the computer will come from the general funds and the water and sewer funds.

The computer will be used to compute utility bills which involve water and sewer, and for general budgeting matters.

In another item, Trustee Fred Ashby asked that the Board give some consideration to the purchase of a new radio system for the police department.

The current system, Ashby said, is faulty and the continued use of it puts people's lives in jeopardy.

Sign of controversy

Slapped with a 22 percent salary rollback, Romulus teachers went to the billboards recently to get their message across to the community and the Board of Education. They apparently made their point with the above sign, creating controversy. Last week's "Other Side of the Meridian", which offered Managing Editor Tom Mooradian's opinion on the subject, also stirred up more than twenty-five letters and numerous phone calls. To read what some of the readers had to say, turn to Page 9 in Section A of today's edition.

Official says

Toxic waste dump meets standards

Although Jerry Fore, Director of Environmental Compliance for the Wayne Disposal Corp. assured Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack that the toxic waste landfill near Willow Run Airport met all standards, he barred Mack's photographer from taking pictures, the Commissioner noted today.

Mack was checking out reports — later substantiated — that truckloads of contaminated earth from the Schwartz Creek landfill near Flint were dumped at the Willow Run site. The commissioner questioned Fore for more than an hour last week, prior to making a personal examination of the facility, and was told, at first, that "they might have dumped some of the waste earlier this year."

He later admitted to Mack and his aide that they had been dumping the toxic material as late as last July and August. Residents of the Schwartz Creek area were evacuated last spring while the contaminated waste was supposedly being removed and trucked to Ohio.

Wayne Disposal is the same organization that developed a questionable landfill near Flat Rock where chemicals were discovered bubbling out of the ground. The Flat Rock site on Arsenal Road was closed 11 years ago, but leachants bubbling out of the sides of the landfill have been giving off fumes and killing nearby trees.

Flat Rock Mayor Ted Anders and Commissioner Mack will act as guides Wednesday when a State Police Health Subcommittee, chaired by Curtis Hertel, tours the area. The inspection, originally scheduled last Thursday, was rained out.

According to Fore, the Willow Run landfill is an ideal location to bury toxic waste because of its solid clay bottom. "There has been no evidence of seepage since we opened the site in 1972," Fore told Mack, "and we have 17 surrounding wells to monitor possible leaching." Willow Run is the largest toxic waste dump in the state covering 427 acres. The landfill is expected to last until the year 2000.

Fore, in describing the operation, said heavy metal sludge from chrome, copper, and nickel plating along with solvents are processed at the nearby Michigan Disposal's processing plant. "Solvents," he continued, "are redistilled and the residue, along with that of the heavy metals, is mixed with lime-kiln calcium waste to reduce acidity and flammability."

Mack was instrumental in getting the State Public Health Subcommittee to conduct the first of three public hearings at the Huron Township High School recently, attended by some 300 residents. It was there that Mack produced photographs of the Flat Rock landfill that persuaded the subcommittee to tour the Arsenal Road site.

temperatures will create electrical power which can be sold to electrical companies," she added.

"An example is an out-of-state hospital which provides its own heat and electrical power from incinerating refuse."

"It's a model plant."

Carey said that it is hoped that the State Legislature will be convinced to pass HCR 452 which would place a moratorium on the issuance of permits for further landfills.

Help Center, schools sign contract

The Help Center, a local public funded unit which provides counseling services for substance abuse problems, has entered into a contract with the Romulus school system.

The school board voted unanimously last week to authorize Supt. Bill Bedell to enter into an agreement with the Help Center or provide free counseling services.

The service will be given at least one day a week to operate at the junior and senior high.

The Help Center personnel will use school office facilities in the new agreement to provide the counseling.

The board also requested the Superintendent to get a legal opinion as to the degree which the school district can show school records to the Help Center.

The Help Center has operated in an informal relationship with the school district in past years.

Therapeutic recreation program planned

BY ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

A young Olympic hopeful flexes his muscles, focuses his concentration, rushes to his goal and, in a final triumphant exhalation, hurls his weight on a bowed pole. Airborne, he clears a bar suspended at a height of nearly seven feet. He has displayed an athlete's ability to accept a physical challenge, and has perhaps proven even more about the power of the human spirit — for this particular athlete has only one leg.

Jeff Jones uses this above illustration as an example of his contention that "the physically disabled person can participate in and even excel at, any recreation that an able-bodied person can," and Jones would like to see his statement put to the test in Canton Township.

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department, under the authorization of Supervisor Jim Poole, will begin offering a therapeutic recreation program to residents in November. The program is being designed to meet the recreational needs of disabled and mentally impaired people of all ages in the Canton area.

Recreation department workers, with the help of Jones, the part-time supervisor of the new program, are now working to establish a target population of disabled in the community, assessing their needs, publicizing the program and attempting to include the communities of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Van Buren Township, Belleville and Northville in their efforts.

"We've received some positive responses, but it's a little early to tell which communities will be participating with us," Recreation Superintendent Mike Gouin said.

"We hope this will become a multi-community project with expenses shared among all the participating communities," he said.

Gouin said that the idea originated when parents of disabled children contacted him about a need for recreational activities. "Their children are receiving an education," Gouin said, "but there's a real need for afterschool and summer activities."

"It's something I've wanted to do since I came here five years ago," Gouin said of the program. "There's a need out there and this is an area we're not providing services to. We're very lucky," he added, "to have someone so knowledgeable act as supervisor."

Jones' background includes five years of therapeutic recreation at the United Cerebral Palsy Association in Connecticut, he has a bachelor's degree in physical education, is completing his master's work and will be representing the United States as a coach at the 1984 International Disabled Olympiad in New York this June. He also sits on a sub-committee for the U.S. Olympic Committee.

"Everyone needs recreational activity," Jones explained. "The needs of the disabled aren't any different from the able-bodied, although the mechanics to meet those needs may be special."

The supervisor is modeling the Canton program after the Tri-City Program in Wayne, Westland and Garden City. He hopes to start a Boy Scout troop to provide camping experiences for the physically disabled, swimming, bowling, trips and team sports.

"I know of an amputee who uses different artificial feet to climb mountains," Jones said, "and a weight-lifter who can bench press 350 pounds, even though he has Cerebral Palsy, walks with crutches and only weighs 120 pounds himself."

"The general public just doesn't realize that these people have the same needs and are capable of the same accomplishments as the rest of us," Jones said. "That's something I'd like to help show them."

Honored

Doris J. Roe, 84, who started her career in education as a teacher in 1921, was recently honored for her 16 years of service as a member of the Van Buren Board of Education. A plaque from the Wayne County Association of School Boards was presented by Norman O. Stockmeyer, a member of the State Board of Education.

Longtime educator is honored

Rocket coach jettisoned

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Dan Henry, the coach of the Westland John Glenn Rockets basketball team for three seasons, was told last week that he will not be setting the team's strategy again this winter.

A committee designed to award the coaching contracts in the district voted unanimously last week to dismiss Henry from his spot at the helm of the team. Committee members included John Glenn Athletic Director Jerry Szukaitis, Principal Tom Svtkovich, Dan Shlee, who is student advisor for the region, and Jim Myers, assistant principal at the school.

"We felt that Mr. Henry was not the best qualified man for the job," said Svtkovich. "That was the consensus of the committee, and it was voted upon unanimously."

Henry sees things a bit differently.

"This was just vengeance on Svtkovich's part," said Henry, who coached the Rockets to a 14-7

"Apparently they don't know the meaning of the word acquittal. If it wasn't for the trial, this never would have happened. It gave Svtkovich the chance he has been waiting for for three years." —Dan Henry record last winter. "He can say all he wants about me not being the best qualified candidate, but I know better. This is just the kind of person Svtkovich is. He figures he has me down and now is a good time to start kicking."

Henry also voiced the opinion that his trial earlier this year on charges of sexual misconduct, of which he was acquitted, also had a part in the decision.

"Apparently they don't know the meaning of the word acquittal," said Henry. "If it wasn't for the trial, this never would have happened. It gave Svtkovich the chance he had been waiting for for three years."

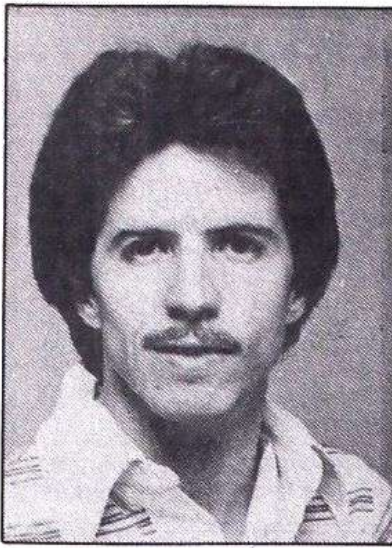

In 1980, Henry was also fired, for what were termed "personality differences" at the time. He appealed the decision to an arbitration court, which reinstated him.

"He tried it once, and now he's tried it again," Henry said of Svtkovich. "I won't give up this time either."

Henry filed a grievance with the teachers' union Monday morning. The school board now has five days to set up a hearing, and then five days following the hearing to announce a decision.

"We have filed a grievance for Mr. Henry regarding his dismissal as a basketball coach, and also the way his football coaching position was handled by the board," said Bill Reece, the union grievance member handling the case. "We are currently consulting with legal council to see just what our alternatives are at this point."

DAN HENRY

When asked if Henry's defense would be much the same as it was in 1980, Reece said that there were several factors involved in this instance that would alter the case, but declined to be specific.

"This isn't the same kind of a case," said Reece. "In 1980, the arbitrator ruled that the district had insufficient reason to dismiss Mr. Henry. We believe the same thing this time but for different reasons."

Van Buren tables ordinance to license junkyard dealers after citizens complain

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees voted to table a proposed ordinance to license junk dealers after several people protested the ordinance didn't go far enough in protecting the rights of residents living near the junkyards.

The trustees decided to turn the ordinance over to the planning commission for review and recommendation of zoning requirements.

Albert Obiginski, one of the residents at the meeting, told the trustees the recently drawn up ordinance didn't properly address zoning restrictions. "This is no improvement over what we have," he said.

Obiginski presented the trustees with a petition signed by more than 150 township residents, opposing adoption of the ordinance. Petitioners objected to the fact that the proposed ordinance didn't require "any specific-set back or greenbelt requirements around the perimeters" of a junk yard adjacent to a neighbor's property.

The proposed ordinance was developed in the wake of a recent controversy involving Choppers Towing and Storing on Ecorse Road, and several neighbors. Claiming that the owner of Choppers is illegally operating a junkyard, the neighbors filed suit against him, the Van Buren Township Trustees, and the Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

The Van Buren trustees maintain that Choppers is in an area zoned for heavy industry, and that there is nothing illegal about the operation. But they acknowledge that the ordinance was drawn up in an effort to avoid future complications.

The lawsuit was filed last month.

In other action at the October 11 meeting, the board:

Approved a first reading of a proposed sand removal and landfill ordinance, to be considered for adoption at the next meeting. (Copies are posted at the township hall, the Fischer Library, the high school administration building, and various area banks.)

Cancelled the rental of that the township hall for private parties, because of clean-up problems. Trustees voted to honor current bookings, but not to accept future ones.

Approved a salary increase for Police Chief Keller as follows: five percent increase retroactive to April 1; $500 for his new duties as Emergency Preparedness Director and $1,500 for his ordinance enforcement responsibilities. Ordinance enforcers will now work under the jurisdiction of the police department.

Police charge 2 in assault

Two Romulus men stood mute this week at their arraignment on charges of felonious assault and malicious destruction of property over $100.

According to Wayne police the men were arrested following an altercation reported at 12:56 a.m. Oct. 2 by a resident in the vicinity of Hayes and Annapolis Streets. The citizen phoned police at the request of Patrick Kobak, 20, of Wayne, who made his way to the home after allegedly being struck with a tire iron by the defendants.

Kobak and three other witnesses told police that while they were riding in a 1976 Blue Mercury on Michigan Avenue near Wayne Road earlier in the evening, the men, driving an older model Camaro, approached the passenger side of the car and used an obscene gesture.

The Camaro driver then reportedly pulled his vehicle in front of the victim's car and made it necessary for the driver to slam on his brakes to avoid a collision. The witnesses claim that the men then drove alongside the car in which they were riding and threw a beer bottle at them, breaking the windshield.

When the victim's vehicle approached Hayes and Annapolis, all four of the witnesses said that they thought the men in the Camaro had gone in another direction, but suddenly, the Camaro appeared blocking the road. The Mercury reportedly struck the Camaro in an attempt to stop in time to avoid the collision.

The two men then allegedly ran from the vehicle and began beating the 1976 Mercury with tire irons, smashing headlights, all window glass and the exterior. Kobak was struck, witnesses said, by one of the men. He obtained aide from the neighbor who alerted Wayne police.

Arriving on the scene, the two men, James Beryl Miller, 19 and David Edward Miller, 21, offered no resistance to arrest.

They will face a preliminary examination at the 29th district court Oct. 26. Bond was set at $5,000 for each of the men.

'Big Apple'

Sweet Adelines prepare for show

They're pounding nails into sets, and rehearsing. They're painting and finding props, and rehearsing . . . they're checking programs, doing publicity and arranging the 101 last minute details necessary in producing a live stage show . . . but most of all . . . they keep rehearsing.

When "Broadway Bites the Big Apple" hits the stage Oct. 22, members of the Midwest Harmony Chorus of Sweet Adelines, Inc. will be ready with one of their biggest productions ever.

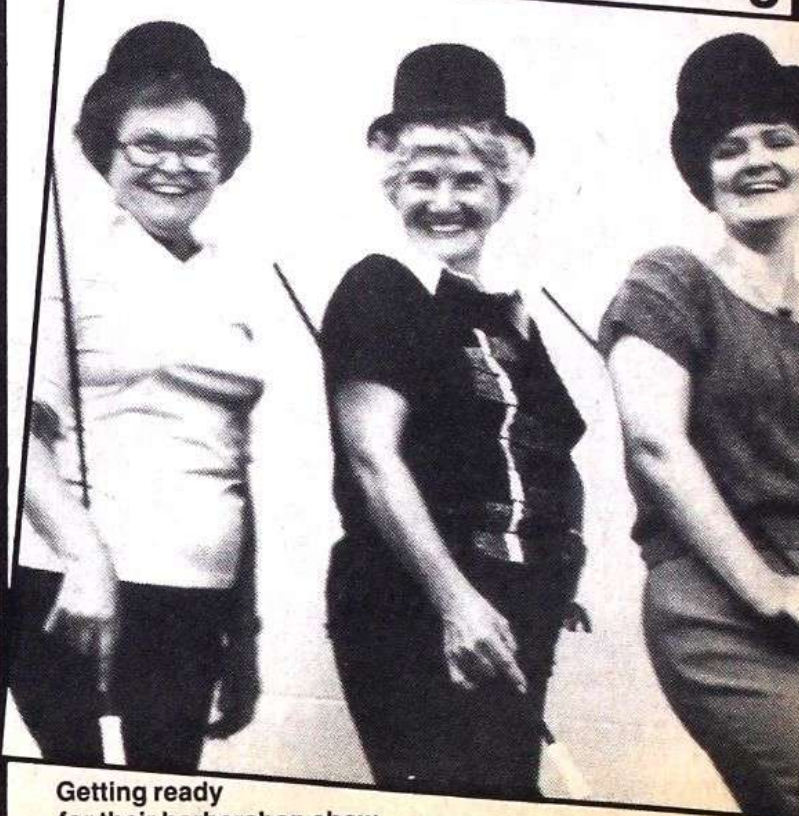

Three champion quartets will join the members of the cast on stage with their own individual sounds and stylings, explained Pat Daubenmeier, president of the singing group. "We've got lots of Broadway music set to four-part harmony that will appeal not only to hard-core barbershoppers, but to everyone who enjoys music," Daubenmeier said.

Heading the show is "High Society", 1976 international champion singing quartet who will travel from San Diego for this special appearance. "Front Office Four", the 1975 international champion quartet will also perform, marking their reunion after several seasons apart. "And our own regional champs, 'Yes, Indeed' will be part of the New York barbershop feeling," continued the president.

Further information about the group or the show is available at 425-0017 or 728-6898.

Rehearsing

Getting ready for their barbershop show "Barbershop Bites the Big Apple" are Midwest Harmony members Peg DiBacco and Nita Casler of Wayne and Gloria Heuschkel of Belleville.

Metro MLS reports:

Pace of existing home sales dip

While showing a healthy 45 percent increase from a year ago, sale of 983 existing homes as reported by Metro MLS for September dipped back 18.2 percent from the strong August market when 1,218 homes were sold.

Metro MLS, multiple listing affiliate of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors, also noted a 13.7 percent decline in new listings. But, the 3,714 recorded in September remained well ahead of last year's pace of 3,486.

"One month certainly doesn't establish a trend," said Thomas A. Duke, Jr., president of the two organizations. "We may, however, have met the major share of housing demand by buyers able to sit out the lengthy period of record interest rates."

"Some still ready to make a move may be waiting for a further rate decline, but this does not look too likely at this time with the continuing threat of record federal budget deficits. Prices appear to be remaining relatively stable, at least temporarily, and with the good supply of housing stock now available we hope more of these buyers will be encouraged to move into the market."

At $56,599, the September average selling price reported by Metro MLS was only $81 higher than a year ago. At month's end, the average price for the Ford (D-Taylor) which provides federal assistance to businesses, communities and workers to prevent business failures and plant closings and which provides assistance to dislocated workers when plant closings cannot be avoided.

mix or urban, suburban and rural properties sold by Metro MLS members stood at $58,015. This reflects a 2.3 percent gain from the $56,705 reported for the first nine months of 1982.

The monthly report also indicated continued return of the conventional mortgage as the favored financing method with its use involved in 48.9 percent of sales. This is up from the 45.9 percent reported in August and well above the 25.6 percent noted at the beginning of the year.

Among the most active markets served by Metro MLS markets in September were Northwest Detroit with 171 sales and average prices ranging from $19,781 to $30,125. The 104 sales in Livonia brought an average price of $57,017.

With 3,000 members, Metro MLS covers a 1,600-square mile territory including major portions of Wayne, Oakland and Livingston Counties. Other communities generating strong September sales and the average selling prices include Southfield's 66 sales, $80,417; Redford Township, 65, $40,711; Farmington/Farmington Hills, 60, $79,373; Westland, 58, $38,575; Dearborn/Dearborn Heights, 56, $52,988; West Bloomfield Township/Orchard Lake, 48, $112,015; Canton Township, 47, $61,197; and Plymouth/Plymouth Township, 42, $65,600.

Business activity, at least in terms of construction and renovations, continues to grow in Wayne.

Sisters Chicken & Biscuits Co., Able Rental and The Associated Newspapers received approval on proposed site plans from the Wayne City Council Tuesday. Plans for the location of a White Castle Restaurant on the southwest corner of Michigan Ave. and Venoy also were revealed.

These projects are among the latest developments in what city officials hope is a continuing trend of business improvements in the community.

"Last year we had five site plans submitted, as of today we've had 25 submitted this year," explained Community Development Director John Zech following Tuesday's session. "It all seems to have started with the downtown developments, such as at the Chuck Muer Restaurant, Wayne Bank and the Group W building."

"Others saw this activity along with the Wayne Road and bridge work and decided that Wayne is a good community to locate in. The economy seems to be coming back and people are feeling confident again in investing. Wayne is thriving," Zech declared.

Zech said site plans for the White Castle project are expected at the end of this month. According to preliminary plans, the restaurant would be located at the Kent Furniture site.

Sisters Chicken & Biscuits, a wholly owned subsidiary of Wendy's Inc., will be established in a new facility at the northwest corner of Michigan Avenue and Venoy. The restaurant will feature seating for 80 persons with a breakfast, lunch and dinner menu as well as drive-thru facilities.

Company representatives have agreed to demolish the former Texaco gas station on the premises as one of the contingencies of its site plan.

The plan for Able Rental, 31827 Michigan Avenue, involves expansion of the facility for storage purposes. Exterior facade improvements are called for in the renovation proposal from The Associated Newspapers, which publishes the Wayne Eagle.

Ford said, "I am pleased that the subcommittee has taken this action. I have worked on this legislation for many years." He continued, "Senator Walter Mondale and I first introduced plant closing legislation in the mid-seventies when our constituents were hard hit by sudden shutdowns of major manufacturing facilities without so much as a day's notice. Workers lost their pensions, their homes and, most shockingly, many even took their lives."

Key provisions of H.R. 2847 include:

- A requirement that businesses provide advance notice of mass layoffs;
- Loans, loan guarantees and technical assistance to ailing businesses;
- Financial aid for distressed communities;
- Retraining and placement services for dislocated workers.

The measure will now be considered by the full House Education and Labor Committee where Mr. Ford serves as the second ranking member. The bill is also being considered by the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs.

Ford was especially encouraged by the strong support his measure received today. This vote marked the first time a Congressional committee has endorsed this legislation.

During debate on the bill, he summed up the need for this important legislation by stating:

Our nation needs policies to prevent dislocation where it makes economic sense to do so. We need laws to ensure that the workers and communities affected by investment decisions have sufficient advance notice to allow for an efficient adjustment to dislocations which cannot be prevented. Finally, we need programs of assistance to ensure that the resources of productive workers are not wasted and that community life and local governments are not unduly disrupted by economic events they cannot control.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble
Microwave ovens get good marks from home economists, who report that vegetables cooked this way retain more vitamins than those cooked by standard methods. (But university studies suggest that microwaves don't cook pork or turkey well enough to kill all disease-causing bacteria.)

Make-believe sour cream has less fat. Buzz in the blender half a cup of lowfat cottage cheese, 2 Tbs. skim milk, and 2 tsp. lemon juice. Chill until serving time.

Anything goes in minestrone. Simmer every kind of vegetable; add pasta and ceci beans. With bread and cheese, and a little fruit, you've got a whole meal.

If you're melting sugar for caramel coating, melt it in the pan or dish you'll use for the dessert. Works better — and saves washing.

Great moments in history

Students capture 'moments in time'

Those moments in time when such oratories of George Washington, Patrick Henry, Nathan Hale, and ever so many others rang out in America were re-lived last week in Greenfield Village.

Twenty-six students from Romulus High School spent the day making speeches and having discussions at Henry Ford's Miller School.

The students, all members of Charles Shamey's American history and English classes, donned authentic clothing of those early years, bowed and curtsied as their teacher rang the school bell, and made ready for the day by pledging allegiance to their flag.

Miller School is a replica of the very school that Henry Ford attended in his youth. A set of stairs meets each person at the gate. The day's drinking water is supplied from the well in the front yard. The school is heated by a wooden stove placed in the front of the room. The old fashioned desks are neatly arranged. Lighting is provided by electrical lamps. A dunce cap and stool in the front corner serves as a reminder to those who would be naughty or lazy.

Jim Boatwright read Washington's "Farewell Address" of 1776. "Observe good faith and justice toward paused at the door of their school-for-the-day. (Right) Ron, Ruth, and Kristie relax after a morning of reciting old poems and discussing long ago times.

all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all," said Washington.

Tammy Potter's reading, "What Makes a Nation" recalled "...there is no south or east or west, but this land must ever stand the bravest and the best."

Other readings included Al Antol's reciting of "Liberty of the Press," by Thomas Paine. Ruth Kuderick read "The Day of Doom," by Michael Wigglesworth. This was the most popular poem in America for more than a century.

Kristie Miller traded her cheerleader uniform for a bonnet, apron, and long dress, and delivered the light-hearted poem, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin," by James Whitcomb Riley.

Climaxing the day's orations were Denise Lehna's moving recitation of Patrick Henry's speech, "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death." Ron Re read Ben Franklin's famous Poor Richard sayings reminding everyone of the importance of education, frugality, and hard work.

Following the activities, the students and their teacher spent the afternoon viewing the many fine historical buildings housed at the Village and sensing other "moments in time."

Huron to present 'Fiddler on Roof'

"Fiddler on the Roof" will be presented in the Huron Auditorium on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 18, 19 and 20. The evening performances are at 8 and the Sunday matinee is at 2:30.

The production is being produced by the Huron Civic Theatre which is the theatrical portion of the Huron School's Extracurricular Activities Fund Raising Organization. The purpose of this organization is to restore the athletics, art, music, and theatre to the schools.

A year ago, the Huron School District's Superintendent, Gary Jackson was "very dismayed to find the Huron High School's beautiful theatre facility was closed for lack of funds."

He said he was determined that facility would be put to use not only for the students sake but for the community as well.

As a result there are now plans for a series of events in the Auditorium and "Fiddler on the Roof" is the first for the newly formed Huron Civic Theatre.

The "Fiddler" Production staff includes Thomas Murphy. The Production Director resides in Allen Park and comes to the Huron Civic Theatre with a long line of credentials, which include a Masters in Directing as well as a Bachelors degree in voice. He has performed with the London Symphony Choral, the Michigan Opera Company and many community theatres in the Detroit area. One of his outstanding roles was Professor Harold Hill in "Music Man".

The Music Director, is Mark Felder from Monroe. Felder is the Director for the Jefferson High School Band as well as the Director for the Monroe Community College Band. His musical theatre conducting experience is sizeable, which include such musical presentations as "Cabaret", "Gypsy", "Funny Girl", "Guys & Dolls", "Li'l Abner", and many more.

The Choral Director is Nick Beasanski, a resident of Trenton. Beasanski just recently created and directed the beautiful revue, "A History of American Musical

Pupils get a slice of life, learning

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

The 31 students in the St. Aloysius third grade class of Mrs. Carolyn Witherow found out not only where the mystery smell came from, but just how to bake it and make it.

It was bread, the bread of Mrs. Birdie the story concluded, and the children in the story finally traced the mystery smell to Mrs. Birdie's house. She invited them in and showed them.

And Mrs. Witherow, after finishing the story, invited the students to an opportunity to actually bake bread.

This was not a small project. Five of the students' mothers assisted in the baking in the basement cafeteria: Mrs. Holt-schlag, Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Manikowski, Mrs. St. Peter, and Mrs. Kouchanowski.

"This was my second opportunity to involve my students with this educational class project, baking bread," said the teacher.

"I enjoy watching students do things they have not experienced before," she said.

Unfortunately, while they ate the bread there was a fire drill. So, the students had to rise, like the bread, and leave the building.

"They learned how to properly read a recipe, accurately measure then mix the ingredients, knead the dough, watch it rise (twice), pop the pan of dough in the oven, and finally eat the tasteful product."

And so two weeks ago on a Tuesday, the children had to go down to the kitchen four times to make six loaves of bread, one per five students.

The fifth time they went down to the cafeteria, they ate it.

Unfortunately, while they ate the bread there was a fire drill. So the students had to rise, like the bread, and leave the building. "It was good," said Carrie Godell, when asked about the bread.

There were a variety of reactions from the students, all positive. They all had their own interpretation of why yeast rises, some of them too academic to relate here.

However, the names of the 31 bakers who participated in the bread baking are listed below. A photo was taken of all of them with their teacher and their principal Sister Shirley Ann, but there was trouble with the photographer's camera. The next time the camera will work, just as sometimes the bread rises. And then sometimes it doesn't.

Here are the students:
Robert Bergeron, Shannon Bryant, Anthony Coak, Ryan Connor, Mary Crova, Ryan Darnell, David DesJardins, Karen Dugas, Christopher Evans, Colleen Foley, Cari Genaw, Patricia Gnas, Carrie Godell, James Hardecki, Tracy Holtschlag, Cher Jessick, Alice Kearns, Nikita Kennard, Ronald Kopas, April Krey, Charles Laird, Melanie Lively, Sarah Manikowski, JoAnna Maus, Pranav (Nicky) Patel, Jennifer Paulanis, Marty Rice, Matthew Scibilia, Melanie St. Peter, Camerone Wells and Matthew Wojtylko.

Huron seeks funds to restore school athletics

The elementary students, second grade through fifth grade, in the Huron School District are going to begin a district-wide candy sale on Fri., Oct. 28.

The profits from the sale will be used by the Extracurricular Activities Fund to offer programs that children in the Huron School District will be able to enjoy in this school year.

Specifically, the profits from the candy sale will be used to fund the full athletic program, junior high through varsity; continue to keep the swimming pool in operation; permit field trips for elementary children; and to continue to fund the junior high and senior high bands.

The candy being sold is the "World's Finest Chocolate," and included in the purchase of the candy for $1 will be a coupon for a Burger King "Whopper" (buy one, get one free) on the back of the candy bar wrapper.

Also, the Huron Schools Extracurricular Fund Thursday night bingo has been moved to the Carl T. Renton Junior High School, 31578 Huron River Drive. The junior high school is located between Flat Rock and New Boston and has a large lighted parking lot.

Lightening begins at 6 p.m., with regular bingo starting at 6:30 p.m.

our opinions

Suffer the children Teacher strikes hurt

Lost in the battle of the billboard in Romulus and amidst the rhetoric of negotiations in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District are some very important people — they are the children.

Whether we like to admit it or not, it is the children who are losing most in the contract controversy in these two school districts.

And the outcome of the long (in Romulus) controversy and the heated (in Canton) dialogue can only scare these students who are being used as pawns while "adults" negotiate their fate.

Unquestionably all are losers when a strike occurs. The trouble with a "strike" is that it really doesn't solve anything. It only brings to the surface the animosities one group has of another. It draws a deep line between the groups even after a settlement is reached.

The 1974 Crestwood teachers' strike, almost a decade old, remains as a haunting reminder of what can happen when so-called educated people can't find solutions to their problems. In that small school district in Dearborn Heights, all 186 teachers were fired and many of those who left the classroom never went back to the classroom because of their disenchantment with teaching. They went into other professions — and there were a lot of excellent teachers in that district.

Although the economy has detoured many strike-minded union officials, in recent months it appears that they are now so sick of accommodating their employer. More are willing to fight for what they believe are equitable and comparable wages offered in their profession.

Militance is again emerging.

And while the adults battle outside the classrooms, the classrooms remain empty or filled with teachers who refuse to "offer anything extra" or "don't give a damn because the community and school board doesn't give a damn about us." Consequently, the children suffer.

Politics

Let's keep it clean

Politics, as played in the U.S., can bring the good and the bad, the best and the worst, the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde out of people, especially if you're a candidate.

Ask anyone who has run for an elective office and he or she will have at least one unique story to tell: The candidate's signs have been ripped off or the opposition is using innuendoes and lies as a tool to destroy him. Who hasn't heard these phrases before?

It happens each year about this time when election madness hits the area.

And there is little anyone can do about it. Unless the statement is downright libelous, one usually stores the words away for posterity.

Some politicians, moreover, help in their own demise. Look what happened to former Governor Romney after he returned from Vietnam and said: "I was brainwashed".

Other politicians take it on the chin because they aren't ready to "meet the press" or the public. The "Great Debates" between John F. Kennedy and Richard Nixon sent Nixon into political hibernation because, would you believe, many thought Kennedy was better looking?

Anyway, can we suggest to those who are running this time around, and to their cadres, "Let's keep it clean". Discuss the issues — if you can find one — and may the best man — or woman — win.

Canton resident takes 'coalition' to task

At 8:01 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 6, a courageous striker of the Plymouth-Canton schools placed a flyer on my door that attempts to gain community support by asking three questions:

Question One: "Why did the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education sneak to Ingham County to obtain a restraining order canceling a State-ordered fact-finding hearing?" I will address this question last.

Question Two asks: "Why the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education can't settle salary demands with school employees" and goes on to state "the Board now has 1.6 million extra dollars and furthermore the Board projects an excess of $2.4 million at the end of the 1983-84 school year."

Before I make any other comments, let me point out to the authors of this flyer (The Plymouth-Canton Employees Coalition) that the Board has no "extra" dollars.

If in fact there are surplus funds, they belong to the taxpayers of the school district. This wonderful Coalition fails to mention what their total economic demands are and what the future impact would be to the very people (the taxpayers) whose support they are asking for with this flyer.

The Coalition is attempting to make the Board look like greedy elves that are denying them the means to buy a loaf of bread.

Yet, in a year or two, when there are no surplus dollars (if any exist) and the taxpayer is asked to approve a new millage, guess what side the same Coalition will be working for?

You guessed it, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

You see, when they want a raise, they ask for the taxpayer to pressure the Board. Then when the Board needs the money, this same Coalition group helps pressure the taxpayer.

The Coalition's third question asked, "Why the School Board doesn't want to end the crisis in the schools?"

First of all, the crisis in the schools is of the Coalition's making, not the Board's; so the question really should be "Why did the Plymouth-Canton School District employees create this crisis in our schools?"

They end the flyer with: "All it takes is a little good faith bargaining." "Good Faith" as defined in Webster's Third New International Dictionary, 1971 Edition, is as follows: "A state of mind indicating honesty and lawfulness of purpose; belief in one's legal title or right; belief that one's conduct is not unconscionable or that known circumstances do not require further investigation; absence of fraud, deceit, collusion, or gross negligence."

Good Faith for the students? or Good Faith for the taxpayers? or Good Faith for the School District Employees?

I agree with the Coalition and ask the School Board to bargain in good faith, which I believe they have already started by seeking a restraining order (is this called "sneaking off?"). But now I have some questions of my own to ask the Coalition:

1 - You want parity with industry. When industry strikes they pay a price... what do you pay?

2 - What does it cost you to hold hostage the education and summer vacation of the children of this community?

3 - Is this strike legal under the laws of the State of Michigan? Don't you have a legal obligation not to strike? Should you be rewarded for breaking the law and for breaking a binding contract?

4 - How many of you had your education disrupted by a strike?

5 - Why didn't you tell us in your flyer how much of our so called "extra dollars" will your economic package absorb?

6 - Lastly, would the mathematician of the Coalition calculate and inform the taxpayers of this community what amount of new millage will be required to finance your latest demands.

Good Faith? I don't think you know the meaning of the word. Try "Webster."

A visit to the editor

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

She was "very much concerned" about what "direction our school board and teachers" were taking.

She struggled through her notes and figures during the entire interview, never smiling. All business.

Her face reddened with frustration, she pointed out that "I have always voted 'Yes' on millage proposals whether they be renewals or increases, because these children deserve and we ought to give them a decent education.

"For, if we don't the consequences are great. Our way of life is threatened and everything our country stands for."

This elderly woman's confidence in "the press" was unlimited, she said.

"Why don't you call in these people in Canton and Plymouth and close the doors behind them and don't let them out until they have an agreement.

"And do the same for the people in Romulus. I promise to make the food for them," she said emphatically. "I'll supply them the food, but you make sure they sit down and settle this thing now."

What Mrs. Smith (not her real name) wanted was a minor miracle.

Plymouth-Canton schools are in a perfect state of contradictions. Leaders in their field, and looked upon as one of the top five school districts in the state, the rational educators and administrators are torn apart. Laced in the network of negotiations is the ignorance of environment: These are the people who are teaching our children the importance of "common sense" and they themselves show little if any.

If the teachers and the board can't negotiate a solution to their mutual problems, how can we depend upon them to teach children the basics of communication?

One gets weary repeating that teachers, like police and firefighters, have a moral obligation to the community and the people they serve. They have chosen that profession, knowing the unique demands that the work calls for.

The many letters this and other newspapers receive on the subject of teachers' rights to strike are evidence that the profession doesn't enjoy the freedoms of other jobs. Unlike other professions, teachers touch eternity.

And when the future of not one but thousands is at stake, then obviously there is concern.

Although it may appear our words are portraying teachers as "the bad guys", we believe that since it was their group who pushed the "panic button" and struck, that they have an obligation to get back in the classrooms and settle these issues before another "Crestwood" comes to pass.

It may be chic to criticize teachers nowadays, but we would prefer that the criticism become constructive and that a state mediator intervene and solve the problems both in Plymouth-Canton and in Romulus.

Screaming at one another at the top of one's lungs should be reserved for athletic events, not picket lines.

And, as the elderly visitor to this office said: "Get these people to the bargaining table, and I'll bake and serve the food."

'Notch Year Babies' hurting

EDITOR — I am very appalled at the despicable, discriminatory, and undemocratic treatment that is being perpetrated against the so-called "Notch Year Babies".

I was recently informed by a concerned citizens group that the law covering Social Security has a comparatively new provision which reduces substantially benefits paid to those persons born in the years 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, and 1921.

What rankles even more is the fact that this information came to me from a citizen's group rather than a governmental or departmental office or communication.

Following numerous inquiries regarding my benefits, this new penalty has not been mentioned until I inquired about it.

I, a dedicated and hard-working citizen who has worked diligently and consistently since my early teens, and who is a so-called "Notch Year Baby", and who is contemplating retirement shortly, am very much concerned and feel very sincerely betrayed.

My contributions have obviously been as much as, and probably substantially more than many born after 1922.

Thus, there is no justifiable or morally acceptable reason why our government should arbitrarily penalize this particular segment of its working populace. This deprives them of benefits that they have dearly earned, and it is wrong to enhance the benefits of others who have contributed less — and in some instances — nothing at all.

In the interest of justice and fairness, I feel that this matter requires the immediate attention of our law makers-state, local and national. I strongly request that all law-makers get behind and push for support and passage of the bill-HR5469. Either re-introduce the legislation, or introduce another bill and vote it into law so that this unbelievable inequity will be corrected once and for all. American citizens who have worked so hard and sacrificed so much in the building of this nation, should not be so disdainfully disillusioned and financially crippled in their last years.

The publication of this letter will do much to further publicize this inequity and hopefully motivate others to communicate with their law makers for redress.

Taxpayer and school board

Editor — When I cast my vote for a school board member, I expect to elect someone who will represent my interests as a taxpayer and parent in the management of the school district's affairs.

An important part of this expectation involves a careful control of the district's financial affairs.

However, an equally critical part is the development of an effective spirit of teamwork between the Plymouth-Canton Central Administration and employees, based upon fairness, cooperation, mutual good will and trust. This responsibility lies equally with the board and with its administrators: the board to set the policy and direction and the administrators they employ to turn that policy into a living, breathing reality by working openly with the employees of the district.

It is obvious that in the Plymouth-Canton School District today there is a complete breakdown in the working relationship between the board and Central Administration on one side and virtually every district employee on the other.

It extends far deeper than the financial issues that are the current focus of attention. The fundamental, underlying issues are more those of mutual respect, fairness and trust.

There is obviously a strong and virtually unanimous feeling among employees of having been treated unfairly and with little human concern or dignity by their administrators and Board for a long time. This is not a new problem.

I have seen it developing increasingly over a period of years, growing and festering and finally erupting into this complete breakdown in communication and work stoppage by all of the employee groups. Unfortunately, worse is yet to come. It is clear that this bitterness and frustration will remain long after the contracts are finally negotiated and that our children's education and the health of the school system itself will continue to suffer.

I have a third expectation of my School Board and administration. Citizens have the right to be told honestly and openly what is happening in the district and to be provided with ample opportunities to express their opinions to the collective board and administration in an open forum.

It appears that during the last few weeks, every effort has been made to avoid these responsibilities. The combination of rescheduled board meetings, cancelled board meetings, board meetings held in Executive Session with no public attendance and the total absence of cooperation with the League of Women Voters' efforts to set up an open public forum, seems calculated to keep the board totally insulated from the public they represent.

If we are to stop the deterioration of spirit in this district, it is imperative that the Board and Central Administration develop a new sense of statesmanship and commit yourselves to:

- Developing a strong and open relationship with employees based upon trust and mutual respect.
- Establishing your credibility with employees and with the citizens of the district.
- Deal directly with employee concerns and contract issues without the involvement of outside lawyers and the tactics of legal maneuvers.
- Setting your top priority to the settling of contracts expeditiously when they expire.
- Instituting a Quality of Work Life type of program that is seen to be effective by the employees that it deals with.

Teachers' side of billboard

Editor — This letter is in response to Mr. Tom Mooradian's editorial of Oct. 12 wherein you were extremely critical of the Romulus Education Association's billboard advertisement that graphically depicted the Romulus School Board's action of reducing teachers' salaries 22 percent.

Although you advanced several thoughts clearly worthy of rebuttal, your conclusion that Romulus Teachers should stress "the positive" and your opposition to the REA's method of dramatizing their sentiments require thoughtful discussion.

Prior to the 1982-83 school year and prior to the pay cut, the REA, in recognition of the depressed economic conditions in Romulus, offered to work under a pay freeze. Considering that the inflationary pressures were not frozen, I suggest a very "positive" statement of teacher dedication and community assistance was made.

Unfortunately, the Romulus Board of Education interpreted this sincere proposal of financial assistance as a weakness and an opportunity was grasped by the board to exploit this unprecedented act of goodwill and help and the pay cut was instituted. Pay cut attempts (all of a lesser magnitude) were met with strikes at Detroit and, more recently, at Walled Lake.

At Romulus, there were no strikes, work slowdowns, unusual absenteeism, and many teachers have, on their own time, and without compensation, performed extra-curricular activities for the students and the school administration.

This teacher dedication clearly contributed to the Board's "negative" position of not reinstating even a fraction of the pay cut. What are the rewards of "positive" teacher actions?

Also, I am disturbed that you take such strong exception to the use of the billboard as an editorial medium which, of course, is a manifestation of the constitutional right to express freedom of speech and press.

As a journalist and an individual who should hold freedom of written communication sacred, it is appalling that you should be so strongly opposed to the billboard statement simply because you personally believe that educators should cheerfully accept financial abuse and professional humiliation.

Although I obviously disagree with your criticism against the Romulus Education Association, I accept your right of editorial expression.

You apparently have concluded that Romulus teachers should be censored because their opinions may not be popular with the community.

Do you believe all Americans or just educators should forfeit their right to publicly and legally express their opposition to perceived injustice?

Meridian wasn't objective

Editor — As is usual in union situations, Managing Editor Tom Mooradian has tossed out objectivity. He has written a column that puts the blame for a future Romulus millage increase defeat on a billboard. That whole idea is absurd.

There are always two sides in any labor dispute. It is easy to sit "On the other side of the Meridian" and make snap judgments. He uses an allegory that teachers are like elephants that never forget. That is nonsense. We are reminded every two weeks by our reduced pay.

Teachers, because we are public employees, are quite cognizant of the fact that boards of education sometimes do have limited amounts of funds to work with.

I was at the Romulus board meeting last year when our wages were reduced. I also remember that on the same night, the board also slapped teachers in the face by leasing for Dr. William Bedell (Superintendent of Schools) a new deluxed-out 1983 Dodge 400. They should really have been red-faced, but I didn't see any change in facial color.

If lowering our pay was the only answer, why is Romulus the only district in the state to do this? There are several districts in much worse financial shape, yet they were smart enough not to put the blame on the teachers. Try to answer that one for me. I've been looking for an answer for the last year.

We who teach in Romulus are not "lamenting our present situation." We live it every day of our lives. You want us to be happy and positive when we are being asked to take food out of the mouths of our families. That is unreasonable and unrealistic.

To blame the Romulus Education Association for a millage defeat that has not taken place is illogical. Romulus voters have not passed a millage increase since 1977. I think you sell Romulus residents short. I hope they will vote with their heads and not with their emotions. By writing your column you've done the community of Romulus a disservice.

The word was 'consideration'

EDITOR — In last week's edition of the Associated Newspapers, my letter was inadvertently changed. In my original copy in response to Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton, I wrote that "Mr. Norton mentions 23 site plans under consideration." What actually appeared was 23 sites under construction.

I still believe that there is a lot of work to be done to make this community a viable one for all of us to live in.

reflections

Without humor, seniors are dead

One thing you have to have once you have stepped over the senior citizen mark, and that is a sense of humor. —Without it, you are dead. Believe me, you are either dead or on a roller coaster to that great beyond.

I can cope with little kids asking about my wrinkles and how old is old, and all that, and I can even keep that youthful feeling in spite of it, because, after all, anyone over twelve years old is old to a little kid.

But it's the other stuff that begins happening that makes you read joke books and watch slapstick comedy just to keep your laugh well oiled up.

There I was, all dressed up in my brand new outfit, feeling like a million, and snitching little glimpses of myself in the shop windows. The shoes were comfortable, and the hair was spanking clean. What I was feeling on that glorious fall day, was the exuberance of youth. I loved being alive.

The book store beckoned me and I browsed for awhile.

Leaning against a railing of the stairway was a handsome young man, probably about 35 years old, with a beret tipped over one eye, a black turtle-neck sweater, and in spite of it, looking terribly handsome.

He kind of bowed toward me in a rather foreignish sort of way, which in the movies is irresistible and then when I dropped a book from the surprise of it, he gallantly leaped forward and retrieved it, and thrust it into my outstretched hands.

He smiled at me, his dark eyes sparkling, and I'm thinking, 'wow, is he cute', so I smiled back. And then he asked me if I would have lunch with him!

Before remembering that I wasn't a girl anymore, I almost said 'yes,' but I caught sight of my hand grasped around my books, and the age spots reminded me, so I thanked him for being so sweet to ask me, but I told him I had to meet my husband for lunch.

His eyes looked so sad. And then he pulled himself together and said, "Oh, I understand. But I had so wanted to have lunch with you and talk with you."

The girl that used to be me responded to that as a very natural desire, but then the old one reared up again, and I told him that I was flattered at his offer and thanked him again.

And then he blew it.

"When you came walking out of that store," he said, in the most sincere way, his dark eyes filled with feeling, "I thought it was my mother. You look so much like her . . . and I have been so lonely for her since we lost her. I thought, maybe, I would recapture her for a little awhile."

His mother !!!

I didn't laugh until I got home and told my husband, and then he laughed so hard I didn't have to.

MONA GRIGG

And I shudder to think how many times we've allowed this particular 10-year-old (who, by the way, took to sorting baseball cards early on and didn't appear to be interested in the goings-on — still, I can't be sure) to watch programs like that, assuming they were harmless, silly, and geared to his mentality.

That episode, for all its moralizing, was a dirty show. The morality, if there is anything moral about using morality as an excuse to present a dirty show, would be lost to any 10-year-old. Or 12-year-old. Or even a 15-year-old. All that would "compute" would be the titillation. The seamy sex. The T&A.

What a strange thing it is that we willingly allow sex in our living rooms when it comes from TV land, but wouldn't think of allowing it out of the bedroom in real life.

I wonder how evident that very subtle difference is to a 10-year-old?

mona grigg

When reality, fantasy clash

The other night a ten-year-old member of the family came into the room I was in and switched on the TV to "Fantasy Island".

I thought next-to-nothing about it, since I've always figured shows like "Love Boat" and "Fantasy Island" were geared to 10-year-olds, anyway. They have that cartoon-character quality, that "Aw, C'mon, you've got to be kidding" quality, that appeals mainly to the 10-year-old mentality.

But, since I had papers spread all over that room anyway, I decided to stay put and see for myself what there is about that show that would draw this particular kid.

Mr. Rourke and a stuffy english-butler type are waiting for the guests departing from the launch. The first two are a husband and wife. The wife's fantasy is to force her "Male Chauvinist Pig" of a husband to walk in a woman's shoes for a while — literally.

They trade places, with her psyche going into his body and vice versa. In order for us to fully understand what has happened, Mr. Rourke has fixed it so that the voice emanating from her mouth is his — and vice versa. Except when other people are around. Then Rourke's magic causes her to sound like her and him to sound like him. But they're not really the people they sound like . . . Oh, I don't know. I'm so confused. It was something like that.

But never mind them — they aren't the issue, anyway. The issue — what I'm getting at here — is the other guest.

If someone got off a boat dressed in (I'll start at the bottom) black spike heels, black sheer stockings, a thigh-high black leather skirt, a low-cut tight sweater, shoulder length earrings and turquoise eye shadow, what would you guess the occupation of that person might be?

A female impersonator? An adagio dancer?

None of the above. But here's a clue: Aaron Spelling.

Well, why didn't you say so? She's a hooker.

(I hate to spoil this little vignette by having to explain who Aaron Spelling is, but I might be spoiling it, anyway, for those who don't know: Aaron Spelling is the king of the T&A mind-mush shows, such as "Love Boat", "Three's Company" and "Charlie's Angels". Nuff said.)

Well, this halloween party caricature of a lady-of-the-night has one pathetic little wish: She wants a normal relationship with a normal man. She wants to know what it's like to be "in love".

Seems fair enough — but from that utterance on, it becomes clear to us that she's not off the hook (Oops) yet. Nosiree. Can't be having happy hookers in Spelling-land. A hop in the hay when two people are in love (or even in like) is one thing, but middle America mind-mush devotees draw the line at hookers in love.

The conclusion shows us (surprise, surprise) a contrite young woman ready to depart the island. Having cast aside the Halloween party raiment, we see her now dressed as a missionary's daughter.

She is, of course, alone. The man to whom she reluctantly gave her heart and . . . soul was "man" enough to seduce her, but wasn't quite man enough to forgive her her former (yes, former — this is, after all, kiddy TV) occupation.

And there it is — or was.

Youth offered job training

County program geared for 16 to 21 year olds

Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service officials are continuing their search for local youths who are seeking free job training.

"We received excellent response last week from the residents of Romulus," said Gary Greenwell, program director, "but we still have room for others. The job training program will help youths develop the skills that may help them eventually find employment."

The free job training is available for local youths through the Extension Job Training Program at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service in Wayne. Participants must be residents of Wayne County other than Detroit or the downriver communities who are 16 to 21 years old. They must be considered low-income or having learning disabilities or other handicap to be eligible.

The program offers career exploration and planning as well as training in pre-employment skills, life survival skills, job-seeking and retention, hands-on training practicums, try-out employment in various businesses, and job placement.

Also available are counseling, supportive services, remedial education, and specialized handicap assistance. For those interested in pursuing a job in the horticulture field, specialized vocational training and work experience are also available.

Greenwell stresses, "We are looking for highly motivated individuals who are willing to work hard with us to set some goals and achieve them."

Over 100 of the program's 1983 graduates are now working in a variety of jobs. Greenwell attributes the success of his staff to their approach of tailoring the training around each individual's goals.

The program is beginning its fifth year this week at the Wayne County Extension & Education Center at Van Born and Venoy Roads in Wayne. Those interested in free enrollment are urged to contact the program as soon as possible at 721-6550, extension 233 Monday through Thursday or at 721-6578 on Friday. The program is funded by a grant from the Wayne County Employment and Training Administration.

Merriman is as busy as a bee

by Rosemary Foster

Things were buzzing at Merriman when beekeeper Larry Foster visited the first and second grade classes of Rosemary Foster and Barbara Jaszcz. He showed the students the special clothing a beekeeper wears and explained the purpose and need for each item. The tools a beekeeper uses were also exhibited and discussed by Mr. Foster.

A beehive was brought in for the children to look at while Mr. Foster showed and talked about the function of the various parts of the hive. He used the chalkboard to illustrate the differences in sizes between the 3 kinds of honeybees — queen, workers, and drones. He also explained how bees gather nectar to make honey.

A live honeybee, yellow jacket and wasp — each in his own jar — were brought in so that the students could individually compare the similarities and differences of the 3 insects.

The students were especially intrigued.

Leaves of autumn

Mrs. Verdys Shephard, a long-time resident of Van Buren Township, sweeps in autumn with a vigor. But fall is more than raking leaves . . . it's hayrides, Halloween, and homecoming.

Autumn-it's more than raking leaves

Color autumn apple red, nut brown, and Halloween black and orange. That's what area residents are doing as October kicks up its heels and gears into action.

A quick check around town reveals that Belleville Brownies and Sumpter seniors alike are finding plenty of ways to enjoy the season — after they finish raking, of course.

"Are we busy? Are we busy!" said Rich Bassett of Country Sports which offers tractor-drawn hayrides (in Ypsilanti and in Thornhollow Berry Farm in Belleville).

"We started in late September, and we've got rides booked through Thanksgiving," said Bassett, an employee of the Belleville store. Everyone comes here — Brownies, Girl Scouts, fraternities and sororities, church groups. They all bundle up in sweaters and get out in the wagon and scream."

Folks are also flocking to the aptly named Pumpkin Factory (on Elwell Road in Belleville) to do their Halloween shopping.

"We've got a couple thousand pumpkins out here," said John Clift, 19, whose mother owns the farm. "Yeah, we're busy. People are picking up their Halloween pumpkins or just driving over for cider and doughnuts on the weekends."

"Some are buying their masks here," Clift added. "The little kids want Batman or Robin, the adults want something classier."

We sold a $135 dollar mask the other day — a female fang face with a black hood."

Eleanor Romej doesn't sell pumpkins at her tiny outdoor stand on Sumpter Road, but winter squash is a popular item. "The other stuff you get in June," she said, gesturing to the bags and boxes of gleaming green peppers, onions, and tomatoes. "When you get that winter squash in, you know it's fall."

Stocking up for winter was the goal of a group of Sumpter senior citizens who recently enjoyed a well-planned fall outing to a Romulus food market.

"This is a yearly event," said Georgia Bradford, director of the Sumpter Seniors organization. "We buy fruits, vegetables, 50 pound bags of nuts for Christmas. Then we bring it back to Sumpter on our bus and divide it up."

Planning ahead is also keeping some energetic folks busy with fall house-cleaning. "People are hauling out their moldy chairs and couches, cleaning up before the cold sets in," said Belleville City Manager Frank Pascarella. (As extra encouragement, the city provides free special pickups during October.)

At Quirk Elementary School, autumn is a major part of the curriculum for curious first graders. "We've been studying fall since the very first day," said teacher Nancy Steiger. "The kids have been bringing in sections of the paper, showing how many hours of daylight there are, keeping track of the temperature."

"The children are also gathering large collections of acorns, chest-nuts and — excuse the expression — Ohio buckeyes —" Steiger added. "They're learning fall poems and songs and watching filmstrips like 'Autumn Comes to the Forest.' We cover the territory pretty thoroughly."

Autumn means homecoming at Belleville High School where students are busy preparing for next week's festivities. "Spirit Week" is a real occasion around here," said Joe Zelinske, a high school counselor. "The kids decorate the halls, have races, work off a lot of energy."

Whatever the way of observing it, autumn is tantalizingly brief — the flip of one, maybe two calendar pages. "We'll get a killing frost the next couple of weeks," predicts Eleanor Romej, speaking from years of season watching. "Then we close up until spring."

BPW honoree

The electric organ at the First United Methodist Church, where she is Music Coordinator as well as organist, was the natural setting for a photo of Gwenth Ashe, the 1983 "Woman of the Year" for the Belleville BPW Club. Announcement of the annual award was made at the club's October meeting.

For BPW Club

Gwen Ashe selected 'Woman of the Year'

In conjunction with the observance of National Business Women's Week, the Belleville BPW Club annually selects one of its members for the accolade, "Woman of the Year." At the Oct. 3 dinner-meeting at Faith United Methodist Church, the group turned the spotlight on a member of eight year's standing and its current treasurer, Gwenth Ashe of Belleville.

Since joining the local organization in 1975, "Gwen" has been a most supportive member, serving as membership chairman for two years and chairing the flower and sunshine, humanitarian and Strawberry Festival committees.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wishart of Canton, Gwen comes from Welsh ancestry and a family that enjoys music. Before she even started school, she was playing the piano by ear. Her kindergarten teacher, Mrs. Ethel Orr (who now lives in Clawson and with whom Gwen is still in touch) took a great interest in her ability and had her playing for school concerts at that early age. Her husband, Harold Orr, who was an organist for a large church, often allowed Gwen to sit at the keyboard and taught her about the beautiful instrument which would play a major role in her life in years to come.

Following graduation from Dearborn High School, Gwen attended Wayne State University where she earned her bachelor's degree in education while working in the import office of the J.L. Hudson Co.

She later taught in the Taylor and Woodhaven School Districts but, due to ill health, had to resign her teaching position.

She still continued her involvement in music, however, and began the duties of organist for the Avondale Methodist Church and later for several churches of other denominations. She was guest organist at the West Mound Methodist Church during its centennial celebration and for the past 11 years has been organist at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville where, as choir director, she holds the post of Music Coordinator. She also teaches music at the Van Buren Convalescent Home and for the Van Buren School District and gives private lessons in her home.

Along with music, her hobbies and pastimes continue to center around the opera and good reading.

The "Woman of the Year" is also the mother of three children, Dave, a computer specialist for the government who lives in Montgomery, Ala., with his wife, Libby, and their three youngsters, Eric, Erin and Ethan; Penny, an employee of the K-Mart Corp., and Frank, who is active in sports at Belleville High School.

Following announcement of her selection by the BPW, a musical tribute by close friends, Clara and Art Walker, was presented. Mrs. Walker, a talented harpist, played several selections and then accompanied her husband as he sang, "The Sound of Music."

Other acknowledgements were in the form of a letter of congratulations from her pastor, The Rev. George Spencer; a note from Fonia Butler of the Van Buren Schools, a telegram from her son and family in Alabama; a corsage from her daughter and son, Penny and Frank Ashe; and a miniature grand piano music box from the Walkers.

Quotes worth quoting...

"The ability to express gratitude is one of the ways in which man differs from the lower animals; and it's good to manifest the difference occasionally."

Rabbi David Small said it.

potpourri

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

It's one of those weeks every columnist dreads — I'm drawing a blank — nothing to write about! Listened to WJR enroute to work, hoping JP'd trigger something other than irritation but — no luck.

Enroute to an Ohio rendezvous yesterday, we exclaimed over the unbelievable beauty in the woods which line so much of US-23. I could write about the awesome sight and how one has only to travel a few miles to view autumnal scarlets, saffrons, crimsons, golds, ambers, emeralds, bronzes, olives, russets, coppers and vermilion in vibrant patchwork quilt designs but by the time this saw print, much of the prime brilliance could be faded or gone.

I could relate our grandson's fascination and mini-adventures with a "wooly bear" — supposedly nature's meteorologist — during his 4-day stay in Michigan but that's hardly enough for a column.

October being National Restaurant Month, I could "review" a couple places we hit of late — the new T.S. Churchill's which has taken over where Schuler's left off, for instance. I might say our brunch there with the young man, his mom and aunt was an experience in new-owner's-disorganization. I should add the food was really pretty good and the place charming despite a lot of kinks that need to be ironed out. But that'd only take a few paragraphs, so veto that idea.

Mention could be made, too, of our lunch spot "Timko's Soup 'n Such," at our destination — the Holiday Inn outside Perrysburg — where we delivered our houseguest to his financial-aid-conferencing mom on her return from Columbus. I should tell readers there's a terrific, top notch, fresh, crisp, big-variety-salad-bar and three huge cauldrons of delicious soup that were perfect for the rainy (or any) day. But an entire column on the subject? Naw...

It wouldn't be nice to make you drool all over your newspaper by mentioning the "dream castle" (built around calories galore) — that very same "Parlour" which recently filled a "potpourri." It'd be mean to taunt you with pictures of an all-chocolate, hot fudge almond turtle and banana split (lady-sized, of course), a he-man pecan turtle or a Dynamic Duo — a Batman special — dreamed up for imaginative tykes.

Who'd want to hear about great weekend plans being washed out by autumn rains or the fact the picnic of real-chicken sandwiches, homemade brownies and all that other el fresco stuff, was finally spread out and eaten at the kitchen table rather than in the Irish Hills. Telling about digging everything out of an already-packed picnic basket (I was a true optimist that Saturday) or how iced tea became the apple cider we were "going to buy beforehand" at the orchard would just be a bore. How the idea of working up an appetite as we picked apples also went down the drain wouldn't make much of a story either.

I could pass on to you a 4½-year-old's tip for a "good sandwich" — a banana wrapped in a slice of cheese — but maybe you already learned that from Mr. Rogers (that's a morning TV show for kids — the one with the boring, boring, boring title character. That could get me going, but who wants to be a Grinch all the time?) I could and probably should mention that the "tip" wasn't half bad — our test run including a Chiquita enfolded in mozzarella.

Shopping for cider, Indian corn, Halloween suckers and multi-sized gourds or letting a little boy watch candied apples (fudge-covered yet!) being made at a favorite produce market orchard would hardly make fascinating copy. Neither would skipping stones in a flowing creek or watching the high school band practice from atop a steep hill.

I might draw smiles and "I remember well" nods from former chapeaux lovers if I were to wordfully picture a foursome of females trying on the latest in fall headgear. Some were gorgeous and regal, others small and sporty — each one almost a dare to buy anymore. I could repeat what I said to my siblings as I adjusted a large-brimmed black beauty — "My birthday buddies would fall over if I showed up at lunch in this!" I shouldn't admit, though, what a chicken I am; that I refused my trio's urgings and pleas to "Surprise them; surprise Dad, and buy it!" No, that wouldn't make for much of a topic either.

Perusal of the Free Press only brought up "editorializing" material, the newest in Christmas catalogs bombed out as subject matter and even Joel Alexander failed me. I've a bit of trivia to tack on to this verbage and a pretty good "bottom line" but, other than that, folks, it's one of those weeks — nothing to write about.

TRIVIA, ANYONE?

- Transcontinental television was inaugurated Sept. 4, 1951 when President Harry Truman addressed the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference in San Francisco.
- Speaking of that West Coast city, in each cable supporting its famous Golden Gate Bridge there are 27,572 wires less than two-tenths of an inch in diameter.
- The mouth on the Statue of Liberty is three feet wide.
- In the 17th and 18th centuries in Spain, the bath was forbidden as a heathen abomination. (Lots of little boys might refer to those times as "the good old days.")

THE BOTTOM LINE: The fall tourist business operates on the premise that the leaves you drive 200 miles to see are prettier than the ones in your own backyard.

Morris-McKenzie marry

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston was reserved for the summer wedding of Julie McKenzie and Robert Morris, both of Bradenton, Fla. The young couple exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands before The Rev. Carl F. Trosien and some 150 relatives and friends at six o'clock in the evening, Aug. 27.

The ceremony joined in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKenzie of Hamill Street, Plymouth, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Morris of Huron River Drive, Romulus.

Ruth Richert was organist and Donna Leaf, the bridegroom's aunt, was soloist.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride appeared in a white nylon chiffon creation designed with a high lace collar on a lace-trimmed illusion bodice. Long full sleeves and a tiered skirt which terminated in a chapel sweep were other styling details on the gown.

She wore a full-length veil of silk illusion secured by a coronet of fresh pink sweetheart roses, baby's breath and stephanotis and carried a cascade bouquet comprised of pink and white miniature carnations, pink sweetheart roses, baby's breath, stephanotis and fern.

A life-long friend from Plymouth, Becky Blackmore, was maid of honor in a toe-touching dusty rose crepe de chene gown accented by a sheer flowered cape. She tucked small flowers from her bouquet in her hair and held a colonial arrangement of pink mini carnations, yellow button mums, white daisies and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids in identical ensembles were Mary Anne Scheans and Jennifer Scheans, the bride's sister and niece, respectively, from Howell; and Marguerite McKenzie of Ann Arbor, another sister.

Four-year-old Jennifer Jarrett of Westland, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl in a full-length white eyelet frock. She, too, wore flowers in her hair and carried a miniature colonial bouquet. Ringbearer was Shawn Muneio, four, the bridegroom's cousin from Canton.

Paul Morris of Romulus was his brother's best man. Groomsmen included David Niemann of Belleville; Rick Schonscheck of Romulus, and Ralph McInnis of Bradenton, Fla., a brother-in-law.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT MORRIS

Following a reception for some 180 guests at the Plymouth VFW Club, the newlyweds departed for a week-long trip through the Blue Ridge and Smoky Mountains enroute to their home at 4012 3rd Ave. in Bradenton, Fla.

A 1979 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, the new Mrs. Morris is employed at J. Byrons in Sarasota. Her husband, a 1976 alumnus of Romulus High School and 1978 graduate of Detroit Engineering Institute, is an employee of Meisel's Custom Cabinets in Sarasota.

Montgomery-Pruder wed

The newly wed Thomas Montgomerys honeymooned in Florida for two and a half weeks following their summer wedding at Trinity Episcopal Church.

Joanne Marie Pruder, the daughter of Gerald and Maryann Pruder of Ann Arbor, became the bride of Thomas Allen Montgomery, the son of George and Marilyn Montgomery of Belleville, during a six o'clock ceremony Aug. 13. The Rev. Robert Scheisler presided at the double ring rite before some 200 relatives and friends.

Presented in marriage by her parents, the bride was gowned in white lace and organza, the little fitted bodice being styled with a V-neckline enhanced with lace appliques and long sheer sleeves. A beaded headpiece secured her floor-length silk illusion veil and white silk carnations were used to form her tear-drop bouquet.

Maid of honor in a long, lavender chiffon V-necked gown, was Kathrine Marie Sutton of Maybee, the bride's friend since childhood. The quintet of bridesmaids included the bride's four sisters, Susan Pruder, Cathy Gerstler, Sharon Pruder and Sue Sojka, all of Ann Arbor, and the bridegroom's sister, Chris Montgomery.

Flower girls, wearing white frocks imprinted with yellow flowers were Carolyn and Jessica Gerstler of Ann Arbor. The role of ringbearer was filled by Michael Domen of Belleville.

Best man was Edward Daunt of Gautier, Miss. Others on the esquire side were Tony Bies of Willis; John and David Pruder, brothers of the bride from Ann Arbor; Charles Domen of Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom, and Tim Wallace of Wyandotte.

Some 350 guests attended the reception which followed at the Romulus Progressive Hall.

A parttime employee of K-Mart in Ypsilanti, the new Mrs. Montgomery is currently in her senior year at Eastern Michigan University where she is majoring in social work. She is a 1977 graduate of Pioneer High School.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS A. MONTGOMERY

Her husband, a 1979 alumnus of Belleville High School, is employed by NAPA in Romulus.

Membership drive underway at BPW

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville is participating with other BPW Clubs in the state and nation in an energetic program to "Speak up" for the benefits available to all working women affiliated with an organization whose major goal is to create better conditions for women professionally, economically, socially and politically. National Business Women's Week is being observed Oct. 16-22 but the "Speak up" program runs to the end of October.

BPW membership enables women to solve problems (collectively via foundation), obtain member loans, get political action, make social contacts, and receive back-up support when needed and publicity for outstanding achievements.

BPW also strives to obtain equality for all women in all facets of life. Some of these goals have already been achieved but the struggle is still going on in other areas. There is strength in numbers so working women everywhere are urged to join BPW and make their voices heard.

BPW is the collective voice of working women across the nation. Throughout history many famous women had to fight individually to achieve their goals and find their places in the sun. Today working women speak with one voice and are being heard.

BPW membership has many other advantages. Members meet working women from many different fields and make many new friends. Club programs give new perspectives in many areas. BPW makes one more aware of one's own worth as a person in one's own right.

The local BPW Club meets for dinner, a program and business on the first Monday of each month at 6:30 p.m. at Faith United Methodist Church of Denton. For reservations or further information, call Connie Stoleton at 697-8668 or Ruth Baehr at 697-7605, preferably evenings. Attend a meeting and see for yourself what BPW is all about.

Short subjects

Porkfesting

Smart menu planners know that now's the time to be creative with pork as cooler weather builds appetites for this satisfying meat. Less familiar cuts are more attractively priced. Cubes cut from the pork shoulder make a satisfying and economical meal when browned and braised and incorporated in a casserole. Pork shoulder picnic can be roasted or blade steaks broiled or braised to provide meaty servings packed with flavor.

Goal Post Treat

When the fans are ready and raring to cheer the team, fortify their spirits during pre-game time with hefty, hearty pork burger. This special treat will score points because it's packed with terrific pork flavor. Time and crowd problems are solved by shaping a generous amount of ground pork (6 ounces each) into ¾-inch thick patties and baking them on a rack in a hot oven (400°F.) 30 to 35 minutes.

Lenore Gaddy is hostess to Past Matrons

Past Matron Lenore Gaddy of Romulus was hostess for the October meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, held Oct. 6 at Bonanza in the Lakewood Shopping Center.

Present were 16 members who enjoyed the 12:30 luncheon at tables made colorful with decorations in an Autumn theme. Jars of homemade grape jelly were favors.

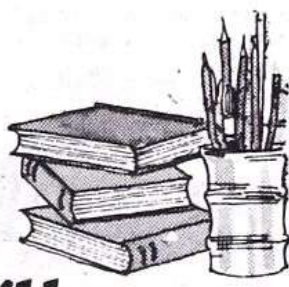

The president, Florence McKelvey, led a short business meeting with Florence Sugars in charge of decorations. She read a poem entitled "What More Can You Ask?" by Helen Steiner Rice. A card of thanks was read from the family of the late Emma Moore, P.M., and the secretary read the page in the records dedicated in her memory after which a moment of silent prayer was held.

Plans were made and committees appointed for the annual Family Nite dinner to be held at the Temple Nov. 9, at 6:30 p.m.

The hostess presented several games, among them "Willie the Worm." Awards were won by Marie Murphy, Rachel Hamilton, Frances Cothorn, Florence Sugars and Kay Parker.

Nutrition after 50 is Study Club topic

"A cup is a cup — but a half cup is the better serving of the nutrients needed in the diet of adults past middle age" was the message of Mrs. Eleanor Rhinesmith, director of Food and Nutrition Services for the Wayne County Extension Service, as she spoke to members of the Belleville Woman's Study Club at their Oct. 12 meeting. Mrs. Rhinesmith described the balanced dietary needs and the care one must take to fulfill the health requirements of people past the age of 50 after she was introduced by Home Life Committee Chairman, Mrs. Don White.

After a social break the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Royce Smith in the absence of president, Mrs. Justin Emerson. Two items of importance were discussed; namely the participation of the club in the ceremony of setting plaques on two historic buildings by the Belleville Junior Club on Sunday, Oct. 16, and the invitation to the "Ingathering" at Girlstown, Nov. 5 which will be highlighted by the ritual "burning of the mortgage" ceremony. All club members are urged to attend. Girlstown is the state project of the Michigan Federated Woman's Clubs and the ceremony marks a proud day for the Federation.

Two new members, Mrs. Leora Robson and Ms. Patricia Touse, and one guest, Ms. Joannie Wild, were welcomed by the club.

Dickersons mark 40th year

A life-long resident of the Belleville community, Don Miles Dickerson Jr., and his wife, Lucille Iva Dickerson, were the surprised guests of honor Sept. 17 at a party celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary.

Held at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Jim and Betty Easley of Belleville, the outdoor gathering featured a buffet of potluck dishes, games of volleyball, visiting and reminiscing over family photo albums. The blue and white color scheme of the party was carried out in streamers, wedding bells and silk flowers in bud vases and also in the colonial bridal bouquet of blue gardenias and white tiger lilies which was presented to the "bride." Her husband was also singled out with a blue gardenia boutonniere.

The homemade wedding cake, frosted in the same colors, was a gift of Janet Jaromin.

Hosts and hostesses, along with the Eisleys, were the couple's seven other children: Donna and her husband, Don Renton of Belleville; Tom and Sherry Dickerson of Ypsilanti; Connie Dickerson, George and Denise Dickerson and Gerald Dickerson, all of Belleville; Carol and her husband, Bill Barbone of Boynton Beach, Fla. and Jane Dickerson of Ypsilanti.

Don Dickerson Jr. took Lucille Iva Thorne of Flint as his bride on Dec. 11, 1943 at the Lutheran Church in Belleville. Along with their eight children, their family tree includes 14 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

A self-employed farmer and Watkins dealer, respectively, Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson are members of the National Farmers Organization, September Days Senior Citizens and the Belleville Moose Lodge. In her leisure time, Mrs. Dickerson enjoys small crafts, crocheting, gardening and cooking while her husband's pastimes include hunting, golfing, cards and volleyball.

Twenty BPW members attend district meet

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club participated as a co-hostess club with the River Rouge BPW at the District XIII meeting Oct. 5 at the Park Place Club in Dearborn. District XIII includes BPW Clubs from Allen Park, Dearborn, Lincoln Park, River Rouge, Taylor, Trenton, Wyandotte and Belleville. The purpose of the fall and spring district meetings is to interpret Federation policies and implement the program and plans of the State and National Federations.

The evening program included guest speaker Patricia Zimmerman, trustee for Wayne County Community College. She emphasized the need to elect women to public office and gave tips to start the political climb, if it is one's personal aspiration. Miss Zimmerman also explained the many programs available for young adults, middle adults and senior adults in the continued learning process. Some of the learning-oriented issues include: literacy, self-control in learning, learning self-help concepts, the problems of ageism and learning and technology. All members were encouraged to visit the Western Regional Center of Wayne County Community College.

The second speaker was Doris Roofner, State BPW chairman of the Individual Development Plan. The IDP was designed at national level to train members in self-confidence and to develop the ability to think and speak competently. Effective communication is also taught, through group discussion techniques, on how to be an effective group member as well as a confident leader.

The highlight of the evening was having State BPW President Frances Barnes of Ann Arbor as guest.

Of Belleville's 43 BPW members, 20 were present: Faye Sotomayor, Connie Stoelton, Sophie Zoller, Gwen Ashe, Irene Christ-ance of National Business Helen White, Evelyn Pullen, Ruth Baehr, Eleanor Kosteci, Vira McGrane, Bonnie Pavlat, Marie Roberts, Evelyn Griffith, Aldine Potter, Ruth Pollard, Margaret Saunders, Mary Ferrett and Midge Artley.

Bonnie Pavlat of the Belleville BPW is the current district director and conducted the business meeting.

House Resolution honoring the Michigan Junior Federation for its 50 years of community service toward improving the quality of life. Speakers for the day included Jim Tuman, founder of Wayne State University's DI-ALOGUE, who spoke on the importance of setting goals, and State Representative Colleen Engler, who made a presentation on the practical application of stress management.

Belleville Club member Kitty Davies was honored as second runner-up in the state-wide "Club Women of the Year" competition. Mr. and Mrs. Kirby, portrayed by Bob Walker and Helen De Jutio, both of Westland, are in for a real surprise as they visit their potential daughter-in-laws' family. They are about to meet Essie, a frustrated ballerina, portrayed by Mary Joe Cobello, and Kalenkov the mad Russian, as played by Ralph Day in the Spotlight Players of the Wayne Westland Community Theatre production of "You Can't Take It With You." Curtain time is 8 p.m. Friday, and Saturday, Oct. 21 and 22, at the John Glenn High School Auditorium. While the path of true love never runs smooth, this classic comedy provides more than a fair share of adversity to the young lovers, and a great number of laughs for the audience.

what's that sound?

MENTAL AS ANYTHING
"Creatures of Leisure"
(A&M)

The name Mental as Anything belies this band's penchant for normalcy in rock 'n' roll, despite more than a few quick-witted turns-of-the-phrase throughout their music, which is extremely hummable at the same time.

Like so many of the new bands that keep appearing these days, Mental as Anything aspires from the proverbial "land down under," Australia. Happily though, they share much more musical quality with Split Enz than they do with other Aussie groups like INXS, Men at Work, or AC/DC.

"Creatures of Leisure," the band's second American album, is an extremely appealing collection of songs, which perfectly matches pop with country, great hooks thrown in seemingly with the greatest of ease. In other words, it's good.

Recently, I had a chance to talk to Martin Plaza, guitarist and vocalist for the band.

WTS?: How do you feel about the so-called "Australian Invasion," with so many bands showing up over here on the charts of late? Are you afraid of being classified or lost in the shuffle?

MP: Well, it's something I'm not at all wild about, and it seems to have really gotten out of hand. But, no, I don't think we'll get lost in the shuffle, because we have a truly different sound to offer listeners, which isn't to slight other bands, but naturally I have a lot of belief in ourselves.

WTS?: How long have you been on tour here in the States this time, and have you been headlining clubs or opening for more established groups at arenas?

MP: We've been over here about eight weeks so far, with another four weeks to go still. So far, we've been opening for Men at Work, as well as a few shows for Graham Parker. The receptions we received were all very good, especially considering most of the people had never heard us before. But for the remainder of the tour, we'll be headlining.

WTS?: Where did your name come from... not your name, but the band's name?

MP: Actually, it was given to us. At the time, we were just a bunch of guys playing mostly cover versions of hit songs hanging around college back home. We didn't even know we had a band, if you know what I mean. It was just for fun. Anyway, we were on the bill at a benefit show at school, and since we had no name, the guy making the poster suggested Mental as Anything, and we said sure, yeah, why not? And it stuck. True story folks!

WTS?: Have you guys made any videos for the new LP yet, after all, MTV has become very influential in breaking new bands...

MP: As a matter of fact, we just finished up one for our version of "Workin' For the Man," an old Roy Orbison number. Our first "official" single from the album is "Brain Brain," which should be out anytime now, but FM stations all over are picking up on "Workin'," so we figured why should we wait?

THE BONGOES
"Numbers With Wings"
(RCA)

The Bongoes are, along with the critically acclaimed dB's, the best of the new breed of east coast pop 'n' roll bands, blending catchy tunes with a distinct edge of rawness (i.e. -emotions) to their music, making it successful on many levels, the least of which isn't danceability.

This 5-song "mini-LP" is actually the band's second recording, the first being an album titled "Drums Along the Mohawk," which was good, but "Numbers With Wings" shows a grand maturity in the group in the past two years.

Group Leader/brainchild Richard Barone has a very good new collaborator in newcomer James Mastro, formerly of the Richard Lloyd band. He adds an extra spark to the already vigorous songwriting and playing of the band which is a bit folkie, with a lot of rock 'n' roll added and just a pinch of 60's psychedelia thrown in for good measure.

One listen to gems like "Barbarella" and "Skydiving" will have you too playing the Bongoes as often as Ricky Ricardo would, if you take my meaning.

This five-tune sampler definitely leaves one wanting more, which should hopefully come soon.

MENTAL AS ANYTHING will be appearing at Traxx's on Oct. 22 (call 372-2320 for details).

THE BONGOES will be appearing at Joe's Star Lounge in Ann Arbor on Thursday, Oct. 20 (655-5637) and at Todd's in Detroit on Friday (366-8633).

Wayne student eyes Clown Alley

Mark Renfrow of Wayne is learning how to clown around these days... professionally that is.

The 20-year-old student is one of 45 aspiring clowns attending the world's only school of clowning at the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus' winter quarters in Venice, Fla. Completion of the 10-week program could land Renfrow a spot with The Greatest Show on Earth.

Selected from among 6,000 applicants for the training, Renfrow is in the midst of a vigorous schedule of courses that include acrobatics, juggling, stiltwalking, unicycling, costume design and clown makeup.

On Nov. 15 the students will display their new talents in an elaborate stage presentation. Apprentice clowns for the circus' Clown Alley are chosen based on their performance during classes and the final show.

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Clown College was established in 1967 and today has an alumni of some 850, including the members of Clown Alley.

Renfrow's goal is to join that elite group of clowns.

cable beat . . . by dennis fassett

The municipal cable television franchising process is studied in confusion... real and fabricated.

"Long live cable television."

At the heart of the cable television franchising process is the ability of a cable company to accurately communicate its proposed system to officials charged with responsibility for selecting a "winning" cable company.

On the surface, it would not appear that this task would be difficult. After all, city officials deal with complex issues on a regular basis. But, "cable television is different." Or, that is the impression cable executives would have you hold. For, in fostering the illusion that cable is mysterious and intensely complex, the cable executive is able to assume a position of "knowledge" beyond his credentials. As the "expert," a cable executive assumes a larger-than-life presence in negotiations; Often even asked to comment on the technical advantages of his proposal, with the response considered objective information.

How the cable industry managed to mislead and confuse so many otherwise knowledgeable people, is living example of the philosophy that; to repeat the same mistruth often enough creates the desired "truth." And, as human beings collectively intent on impressing each other with our knowledge, we fall victim to the strategies of the CATV industry.

Case in point:

When a small California town made a decision to build its own municipal cable television system, and to use cable profits to improve local city services, the CATV industry united in its condemnation of such thinking. "Government should not be in the cable business," the industry said. "Government should not be in control of cable programming," they said. "Government involvement in CATV was a further step toward Orwell's 1984 scenario," the cable industry said. But what cable really meant, was that it did not want local government to ever discover that building, operating, and managing a cable system was no more difficult than running a water department, and far less difficult than running a city.

Intent on heading-off this "new idea," the CATV industry reached for and achieved new lows in ethical conduct. When their threats of gloom-and-doom failed to stop the idea, cable tried to "buy-off" local politicians. When that too failed, cable tried to create and program a grass-roots outcry against government in cable. When that too failed, cable financed a recall campaign against those city leaders with the wisdom and courage to stick to their guns.

Fortunately for truth and ethics, the cable industry failed to carry the issue in California. Today that small town has a successful municipal cable system, effectively and efficiently serving residents, with profits going back into the community rather than to the corporate headquarters of some out-of-state cable company.

A close reading of this case would reveal that it was only the character of local elected officials which defeated cable's campaign to color "municipal cable" as anti-American... Not so fortunate was the case in Westland. (More on Westland next week).

After years of choking on the illusions of cable and succumbing to the idea that cable was just too complex for local officials to deal with, government turned to cable consultants for the information they needed.

Strike Two!

Cable consultants were no more interested in de-confusing cable than cable executives were.

With their business founded on the basis of cable's confusion, the consultant could not very well reveal that cable was not really mysterious.

After being retained by government to wade through all that "confusing" technical and programming information within the many competing cable proposals, the consultant merely returned to his New York or Los Angeles office, and dumped the information into his Apple. A hour later he had an evaluation of the proposals, but he could not yet, deliver the information to his client. After all, if his evaluation required only a few hours, how could his firm justify the $20-$40,000 fee being charged?

With a CATV consultant now involved in municipal proposal evaluation, local government had to deal with two separate self-interest groups, and good information was even more difficult to identify.

Within the scope of our less than perfect world, this less than perfect solution to addressing cable issues by local government does get the job done... but not necessarily the best job.

With the future of a community's interactive communications system in the hands of those who would promote confusion as a corporate strategy, or deal in "partial" information, today's cable decision is a game of spin-the-bottle.

Cable one, City Zero

Local government should approach cable as it approaches any other complex decision. Each city official need not know how the system works, or boast to grinning cable executives of their CATV knowledge. They only need to know what they want it to accomplish.

(Dennis G. Fassett is president of Interactive Concepts, a communications consulting firm.)

Wayne pulls out win for Homecoming

Zebras rally pass improved Wyandotte

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Wayne Memorial Zebras rebounded from a sluggish and sloppy first half to defeat Wyandotte's Bears last Friday evening, 33-28.

The enthusiastic Homecoming crowd at Memorial was beginning to lose faith after the first two periods of play, but some tightening of the defense, and some successful offensive adjustments combined to save the day for the faithful.

"We did not play very well at all in the first half, offensively or defensively," said Zebra head coach Floyd Carter. "Costly mistakes, and a couple of fumbles put us behind before we really had a chance to get started."

It was a fumble recovery that allowed the Bears to get on the board first. They recovered at their own 29 yard line, and then went 71 yards in a dozen plays for a 6-0 lead.

In the second quarter, both teams kept the scorekeepers busy. Wayne jumped out in front early in the frame when Kwan Hearn capped a five play drive with a six yard TD run. Dennis Korzeke then added the PAT to make it 7-6, Zebras.

That lead was short-lived, as Steve Pente scored his second

TD of the evening for Wyandotte. This time, he went 38 yards to finish off another drive that started with a fumble recovery by the Bears. Pente then ran the two point conversion in, and the Bears were back on top.

On the Bear kickoff, Michael Jackson reeled in the boot for Wayne, and then proceeded to tie the game with a 83 yard run. Once again, Korzetke added the extra point.

Wyandotte got the ball back, and then proceeded to grind out their first sustained drive of the night. They covered 66 yards of real estate in eight plays before Jim Urbanick went in on a one yard plunge. A successful kick by Scott Gagnier made it 21-14, and that's the way the half ended.

After the festivities at the half, the Zebras came out and took control of the contest. Midway through the third quarter, Jackson racked up touchdown number two with a catch of a nine yard pass from quarterback Mike Quartuccio. A kick by Korzetki tied the game, and that spelled the beginning of the end for the Wyandotters.

On their next possession, the Memorial offense put the Zebras in the lead for good when they ate up 56 yards in 13 plays before Kwan Hearn went across the line from three yards out. The

Glenn has key to grid title

"Defense! Defense!" yelled the John Glenn High School cheerleaders as they encouraged the fans and players at North Farmington High School last Saturday afternoon.

"Defense! Defense!" yelled the Rocket fans from the jam-packed visitors bleachers.

"Defense! Defense!" yelled Jeff Mate, the Rockets' defensive coordinator, from the sidelines.

"Defense! Defense!" yelled the 29 other Rockets standing on the sidelines, encouraging their teammates on the field.

Defense was the key word last Saturday afternoon at North Farmington as the Rockets came up with one key defensive play after another to hold the Raiders in check and post a hard-fought, emotional 6-0 win.

As a result, the Rockets clinched at least a share of the Northwest Suburban League title, or as Coach Gordon put it, "kept us in the driver's seat."

Gordon, whose Rockets are now 5-1 on the season and 4-0 in the NWSL, was happy with the win but was even more ecstatic with the play of his defense.

"Everybody on defense played a heckuva game. It was one of the best defensive performances I have ever seen. The defense is the reason we won the game."

The Rockets got their hands on the ball first, following the opening kickoff. But North's defense, described by Gordon as "a mistake-free one and with good size," refused to crack on this first series of downs.

After couple of short runs by Tony Boles and Craig Thornton following a successful first-play pass from Jeff Hawley to Rob Bell, the Rockets were forced to punt.

Unfortunately for the Raiders, they couldn't field the punt cleanly and the Rockets recovered on the 30-yard line. A couple short runs moved the ball to the 26-yard line. It was here that Boles took the hand-off from Hawley, stepped into a hole cleared by Jim Vojak, and outraced the North defenders to the end zone.

For Tony, it was his seventh touchdown of the season. The snap from center on the extra point attempt was mishandled and Glenn led, 6-0.

Visions of 1981 went through the minds of the Rocket fans as their team prepared to kickoff. On this same field two years before, Glenn had suffered a 14-6 defeat at the hands of the Raiders and that loss cost them an outright league title.

But these young men of the 1983 Rockets were not going to be denied this opportunity, especially the seniors. That particular group of Rockets had managed only one victory between them when they were ninth graders at Marshall and Stevenson Junior High Schools, and the thought of a championship (or at least a share of one) whetted their appetite even more.

The Rockets got the ball right back on the Raiders' second play from scrimmage on a fumble and Glenn was in business to strike again. But North was equally adept at defense and they stopped the Rockets at the 22-yard line.

Chris Piazza, whose four field goals are one shy of the school record jointly held by his coach, Kal DeLuca, and Todd Jennings, stepped to the fore. The attempt would be from 39 yards away. Everything was perfect when Piazza hit it. Unfortunately, the ball died just before it made the upright and curved to the right.

That missed attempt served to fire up the North Farmington players and give them momentum for the rest of the half, and in all probability, the game as well. They only trailed by six, and with a touchdown and an extra point, the Raiders could take the lead and maybe even claim victory.

Under first-year head coach Jim O'Leary, the Raiders entered the game with a 3-2 overall record and a 3-0 league mark tied them with Glenn for first place in the NWSL.

Gordon was not surprised at North's play saying, "North Farmington is a good football team. Any time you beat North you have to play a solid game. A great win for our players because they had to work hard to get it."

North knew full well that a touchdown and an extra point would give them the lead, provided of course the Rocket offense didn't score again. So their own defense went to work and stopped Glenn twice before the half. The last time was shortly before halftime when Hawley's pass was picked off at the goal line by a Raider defensive back.

The second half saw Glenn's defense spend most of their time on the field as the Raiders repeatedly made attempts to score.

But those attempts were in vain as the Rocket defense stopped the Raiders cold time after time as the defensive line rose up to halt the North attack. The Rockets were also playing without their 230-pound defensive tackle Mike Miller, who was hospitalized with pneumonia earlier in the week. That made their jobs a little more difficult but junior Jim Vojak (Jr., 6-0, 214)

Nice catch

Wayne Memorial's Bob Matheney (44) stretches to grab this pass from quarterback Mike Quartuccio which appears to be a touchdown. However, appearances can be deceiving — the official said that Matheney was out-of-bounds and invalidated the TD. The Zebras, however, went on to win for a Homecoming crowd.

Vikings chase Red Raiders into sunset

The Inkster Vikings tuned up for this week's matchup with Robichaud last Friday by humiliating the Ecorse Red Raiders 20-0 in a Suburban Athletic Conference game played on Inkster's turf.

Lorenzo Haley was the main architect of the Ecorse destruction. He scored two touchdowns, both in the first half.

Haley's first marker came in the early moments of the game. The Vikings established their dominance with a sustained drive that paid off in a five yard scoring run by Haley. Brian Jones added the conversion with a swift kick to make the score 7-0.

In quarter number two, Haley took off on an 11 yard jaunt into the end zone to make it a 13-0 game. When Jones' kick was wide of the target, the Vikings had to settle for that lead at the half.

Both squads spent the third quarter shutting each other down, but Inkster added the final blow to Ecorse late in the game with another scoring drive. This one was capped by an 11 yard pass from quarterback Darryl Grosse to David Lowes. This time, Jones was right on the money with the boot, and that was good enough to send Ecorse back home with a goose egg to show for their trip to the west.

"Our defense played a real good game," said Inkster coach Arnice James.

Bragging rights will be at stake this week when the Vikings take their 2-2 record to neighboring Robichaud.

It will be Homecoming at the Bulldog pen, and James expects a rough and tough game.

"Our kids will be ready for the challenge, you can count on that," said James. "They have an excellent football team, but when it comes to these neighborhood games, previous records don't always mean a whole lot."

R.U. jolts Franklin 26-12

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Franklin's Patriots dropped a 26-12 decision to Redford Union last Friday, but in the opinion of of Patriot mentor Armand Vigna, the final score was very deceiving.

"We were in the ball game according to the score, but that is really the only way. Realistically, we were never close. They just kicked our fannies all over the place. Those big lines of theirs just plain kicked the living daylight out of us."

Redford Union scored the only marker of the first quarter to take a 6-0 lead, and then they added another six early in the second to go up by an even dozen.

A daring play by the Patriots paid off in the second frame. The Franklin crew tried a fake punt, and Robert Drabicki made it look good with a 54 yard run before he was brought down one yard away from the end zone. His brother, David Drabicki, then plunged in on a quarterback sneak to put the Patriots on the board.

The half ended at 12-6, but it didn't take the Redford team long to put the game on ice after the band left the field. They drove the length of the field for a TD, and then added a two point conversion to make it 20-6.

The two squads then traded TDs in the final period. After the Patriot defense had stymied the R.U. chargers, the punt return squad helped Franklin get another six. When Redford tried to boot the ball out of danger on fourth down, a Patriot hand was in the way.

Once again, Robert Drabicki picked the ball up and took off. This time, he got to within 17 yards of the scoring zone before he was brought down.

Time Walley then finished the job for Franklin by going the final 17 yards in one quick burst.

Redford scored once more late in the game to put the final nail in the Patriot coffin.

"I guess if there was a bright spot for us, it was our kicking squad," said Vigna. "We kicked the ball well, and we blocked the punt that led to the score. Those kids are playing the game well."

"Defensively, we also have some kids playing very well. Robert Drabicki and Glenn Brandon are both doing a good job at linebacker for us."

It doesn't get any easier for the Patriots this week. They must take their 1-3 Northwest Suburban League record to Westland to face 3 league-leading John Glenn. The Rockets are riding high with an unblemished record, and they already own at least a piece of the championship of the NWS.

"Wee will have to play super to beat them," admitted Vigna. "We have lost the last two games we played, even though we didn't play all that badly. That always hurts."

Legend in their time?

Unscored upon Robichaud destroys Highland Park's title hopes

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The 1983 football season is turning into one that will become legendary for the Robichaud Bulldogs. So far this autumn, the gridders of coach Bob Yauck have racked up six straight wins, six straight shutouts, and at least a piece of the Suburban Athletic Conference title.

The Detroit Free Press currently ranks Yauck's gridders fourth in the State of Michigan for Class B football teams.

Last weekend, another chapter was added to this amazing story, as the Bulldogs scored just enough points to best Highland Park, 7-0 on Saturday afternoon.

The game was a scoreless duel until the fourth quarter, but the Parkers did give Robichaud a scare.

In the opening quarter, Highland Park intercepted an errant Bulldog pass and returned it all the way to the five yard line. The brickwall-like Robichaud defense held, though, and the Parkers remained outside the scoring plane.

Finally, the Parkers fumbled to end the threat.

Neither team could light up the scoreboard until late in the final frame, when Robichaud finally struck. A 55-yard, 12-play drive culminated in a one-yard quarterback TD sneak by senior Mark Medlock. The boot after made it 7-0, and that's the way the game ended.

They gave us a scare when they got to the five in the first quarter, but the kids rose to the occasion after that. They never really got close again" — Bob Yauck

"They gave us a scare when they got to the five in the first quarter," said Yauck. "But the kids rose to the occasion after that. They never really got close again."

The Robichaud offense had a better game than the score would indicate. Medlock completed seven of 18 passes for 94 yards, and senior fullback Mike Bowden gave the Bulldogs a potent ground attack with 129 yards in 25 carries.

In total, Robichaud racked up 279 total yards of offense.

On the other side, the Highland Park offense was held virtually motionless by the Bulldog defenders. The challengers picked up eight yards in the air on one completion of a dozen attempts, and their ground attack mustered only 47 yards to go with it.

"Our linebackers, Bowden, Tom Starosciak and Troy Taylor are really playing well on defense," said Yauck. "and tackles Jeff Price and Paul Green are really doing the job too. Green had 10 solo tackles on Saturday."

Inkster will provide the opposition for the 'dogs' this week. It will be Homecoming at Robichaud, and Yauck expects emotions to be high on both sides of the field.

"You know how it goes when you get these neighborhood schools together," said the coach. "Inkster has a good, quick squad, and we won't be taking anything for granted against them."

Victory bound

Inkster's Lorenzo Haley breezes past Ecorse defenders as did the Vikings in their Suburban Athletic Conference match-up last week with the Red Raiders. Coach Arnice James and his charges have the dubious task of meeting undefeated and unscored upon Robichaud Friday afternoon.

Spartans speared by Crestwood

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Tri-River League has always had a reputation for rock-em, sock-em football. Last Friday, it was the Cherry Hill Spartans that got rocked and socked, as they fell to league rival, Crestwood, 41-0.

"They got two quick ones on us, and from there it seemed like an uphill struggle all the way," said Spartan Head Coach Jerry Pawloski.

Indeed, the Chargers wasted no time in making short work of the overmatched Spartans. It was 14-0 at the end of the first quarter, 21-0, at the intermission and 41-0 after three periods of play. Only in the final frame did the Chargers give the scoreboard a rest.

"Our offense just killed us," said Pawloski. "We had minus two yards passing, and 53 yards on the ground for 51 total. Add to that seven turnovers on four fumbles and three interceptions, and you pretty much have the story of the ball game."

The fact that four of those Spartan turnovers happened inside their own 30 yard line also contributed greatly to the final score.

Pawloski's team is made up largely of underclassmen, and he explained that the youngsters are getting educated under fire.

"We have only one returnee in our line, for instance," said the coach. "I guess these kids are getting experienced the hard way."

To add insult to injury, Cherry Hill marched the ball across the goal line late in the game, only to have the score called back because of an illegal formation.

This week, the Spartans will head for Southgate to challenge the Titans. Southgate is the defending champion of the Tri-River, but they have fallen upon hard times this year.

"They are 1-4 right now," said Pawloski, whose team is currently sporting a 2-3 league mark.

"Our biggest problem this week will be to get the kids up mentally. This is the same team that didn't give up a point for seven and a half quarters early in the season. Then Annapolis scored 20 on us almost instantly, and this week we get hit with 41. We need to re-install some of the confidence that was there before."

In GLIAC

Kersey named Player of Week

John Kersey, who played his high school football at Romulus High, was named "Defensive Player of the Week" for the Great Lakes Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference last week.

Kersey is a senior linebacker for Wayne State University. His performance in Wayne's 23-7 win over Michigan Tech last weekend earned him the recognition.

In the contest, Kersey accounted for 11 tackles. Four of those were solo stops, and seven were assists. Three of his tackles were good for 19 yards of negative ground, he intercepted one pass, and he also broke up two more.

Kersey leads the team in tackles for losses with 11½ for minus 85 yards, and he is the second leading tackler on the squad with 56 in six games.

Wayne wins for Homecoming

Wayne team tried a two-pointer, but the Bear defense was equal to the task.

With the score standing at 27-21 entering the final quarter, Wayne added the finishing touches. On a fake punt, Don Lynn fired a 44 yard pass, and Matt Edwards was waiting under the ball to take it to paydirt. When Quartuccio tried another pass play on the conversion attempt, a Bear interception ended the Zebra scoring.

Wyandotte came back with a marker with three minutes left in the game, but by then, the result was academic.

"We did what we do best in the second half," said Carter. "We played control football. We also quit making the same mistakes we were making earlier."

Statistically, The Zebras were largely outdistanced by Wyandotte. The Bears took the total offense, category 315 to 264 yards, and they only turned the ball over once while Wayne was coughing it up five times.

The Zebras are going to have to hang on to the pigskin a bit tighter this week, since they are traveling to Monroe for a Wolverine Athletic Conference contest.

"We have faced two gigantic teams the past two weeks, and this time around will be no different," said Carter. "Monroe has a fine quarterback, good solid running backs to go with it, and a defense that is good enough to keep them undefeated in this league."

"In order for us to win, we are going to have to put the ball up. That defensive line isn't going to give up a great deal of ground for running."

Monroe enters the game in sole possession of first place, while Wayne's 4-2 record puts them in third, with Fordson in between.

Glenn unbeaten

filled in capably and held his ground against North very well drawing the praise from several observers.

North's tailback Ken Goss (Sr., 6-0, 202) and fullback Tom Spahn (Sr., 5-10, 180) had early success against the Rockets and picked up some tough yards against them. By halftime, Goss had 49 yards and seemed headed for a 100-yard day.

But Coach Mate took his defense aside at halftime and got them to concentrate on stopping the run. The defense heeded their teacher well because they held Goss on only 26 yards in the second half.

But North quarterback Eric Engel (Jr., 5-11, 160) went to the air and was successful for the most part, especially after the Raiders got the ball back with 43 seconds left in the fourth quarter. Engel completed passes to Scott Draper (Sr., 6-2, 170) and had the ball at the Rocket 20-yard line.

However, the Rocket defense was not about to have another "Northville" on their hands. In that particular game, the Rockets suffered a 14-10 loss to the Mustangs with 13 seconds to go. Not this time, however. With shouts of "Not another Northville" echoing in the huddle, the Rockets stopped them twice — once on a pass to the right corner of the end zone where the ball slithered through the hands of the North receiver and Glenn defensive back Cass Simpson and then the clincher: Doug Corbeil's interception at the goal line with 10 seconds to go that allowed Glenn to run out the clock.

As the Rockets came off the field to a standing ovation, they also heard the cry that had carried them to victory and a share of the NWSL title (so far): "Defense! Defense!"

The Rockets now prepare for Livonia Franklin, a team Coach Gordon describes as "ready to play and eager to deny the Rockets a chance at a perfect league season. Despite the fact they're out of the league title chase, they'll be ready to play. We'll have to be prepared to play a great game."

The Junior Varsity Rockets clinched a share of the NWSL JV title as they defeated North Farmington, 12-0, as Rob Cloud and Ron Keast scored a touchdown apiece and Dave Byrd intercepted two passes.

Grandison scores 2 TDs as Eagles whip Woodhaven to stop skid

Romulus takes on No. 1 ranked Marysville

With Darrin Grandison generating 138 yards and two touchdowns, Romulus snapped out of its football doldrums Friday night to turn back Woodhaven 19-8.

Scoreless the first quarter, the game began to tilt in Romulus's favor in the second frame when Coach Norb Glover's Eagles put two TDs on the board thanks to quarterback Terry Roache who called an excellent game according to Glover, and to the running skills of Grandison.

Grandison, who carried 26 times, scored early in the second quarter on a 22-yard sweep. Later in the period the Romulus senior also tallied from 25-yards out.

The Eagle defense, led by Garfield Chappelle, Mark Buttignoli and Joe Atherton, was credited with the third touchdown. Late in the fourth period Jimmy Whitehall, a defensive tackle, pulled an errant Woodhaven pass from the airways and raced 40-yards into the end zone for the six-pointer.

Glover was pleased with the over-all performance of his team, but warned Friday night's confrontation with Marysville could turn into a farce if his charges didn't improve 100 percent.

"For the last three games we have been improving," Glover said. "and we need a bit of luck on our sides. This week we're going to need all the breaks because Marysville is undefeated (6-0) and is ranked in the Class B polls as the No. 1 team in the state."

Romulus will also be struggling against a "Jinx". The Eagles haven't been able to post a victory on the home field since moving from the high school turf to the junior high in order to play under the lights.

Chappelle, a defensive end, came up with one of his best efforts of the season against Woodhaven as he collected nine solo tackles and three assists. He also had a fumble recovery.

Buttignoli, who is at the other defensive end slot, finished with eight solos, a sack of the QB, and also knocked down a pass, while Atherton, a linebacker, contributed 11 solo tackles.

During inclement weather

Fog crept into Romulus in late September delaying busses by as much as one hour. Students' and parents' reaction to the fog went from thinking school was cancelled and not sending their children to school to bringing th students to school by car.

Rumor has it that the heavy fog can be attributed to Joan Omarzu's first grade class at Merriman Elementary School. The first graders studied the word 'fog' during the first part of the week. The students studied the word so hard that drivers in and surrounding Romulus spent the next several mornings groping their way to work or school. Schools are occasionally faced with unscheduled closings or delays in openings due to equipment breakdown, public utility failures or weather conditions. Under these circumstances, children may be sent home or may be delayed in being picked up at their bus stops.

Therefore, if you are unsure of public school closing due to the above conditions, it is suggested that you listen to one of the following radio stations that will announce either closing or delay in school starting times — CKLW, WDEE, WJBK, WJR, WKRN, WNIC, WOMC, WSHJ, WOOM, WWJ, WJS, WCXI, WDIV, WXYZ, WCHB, WASM and WSDS.

Eagles clinch share of cage title

Holding Taylor Truman to three points in the second half, title-bound Romulus buried their Metro West Conference cage rivals 42-25 last week, and also stunned Taylor Center 49-34 to clinch a share of the conference championship.

"We looked good in spots," said Romulus coach Ron Bayes, "and the girls look like they're ready for the playoffs. But we have a lot of room for improvement."

While the Eagles' defense held Truman to 13 shots in the second half, Anita Meeks racked up eight of her 12 points in the last two periods and Donna McKay contributed 10 of her 13 points in the first two periods to lift the local cagers to their third straight league win in three starts.

Bayes' fourth conference victory was over Taylor Center, a team that gave the Eagles a scare the first time around. But with McKay's 14 points and 13 rebounds and Meeks getting 13 points and 14 rebounds, Taylor Truman was no problem the second time around.

Yogi Smith accounted for 10 points and Colleen McKay also chipped in 10 points and had seven assists.

LASER BEAM SURGERY

Laser beam surgery is a new and improved method for the treatment of conventional foot ailments. Laser beam surgery has proven to be safe and effective in the allied medical fields such as ophthalmology, gynecology and now, podiatry. We are one of few physicians to incorporate this new medical treatment which can help eliminate fear of conventional surgery.

WHAT IS LASER PODIATRY?

The major difference in laser podiatry and conventional surgery is that normal cutting is not done. A macroscopically controlled laser beam is focused on the infected skin and nail.

Foot Problems Solved by Laser Light

In Podiatry, a considerable variety of foot ailments can be treated with the laser

INGROWN NAILS

The corner of the nail and root are vaporized which is the cause of the problem.

FUNGUS NAILS

Normally a painful operation with cutting, the laser vaporizes the nail which is quicker and less painful. It also sterilizes and destroys the fungus.

PLANTERS CALLOUSES

With this process deep seated corns on the bottom of the foot are vaporized.

WARTS

Laser beam is used to evaporate instead of cutting the wart, thus eliminating growth and recurrence.

CAR CARE

October 19, 20, 1983

October is car care month

October has again been designated National Car Care Month by most of the states in the union and in communities across the nation, as a flurry of events signals it's time to get the car in shape for another winter.

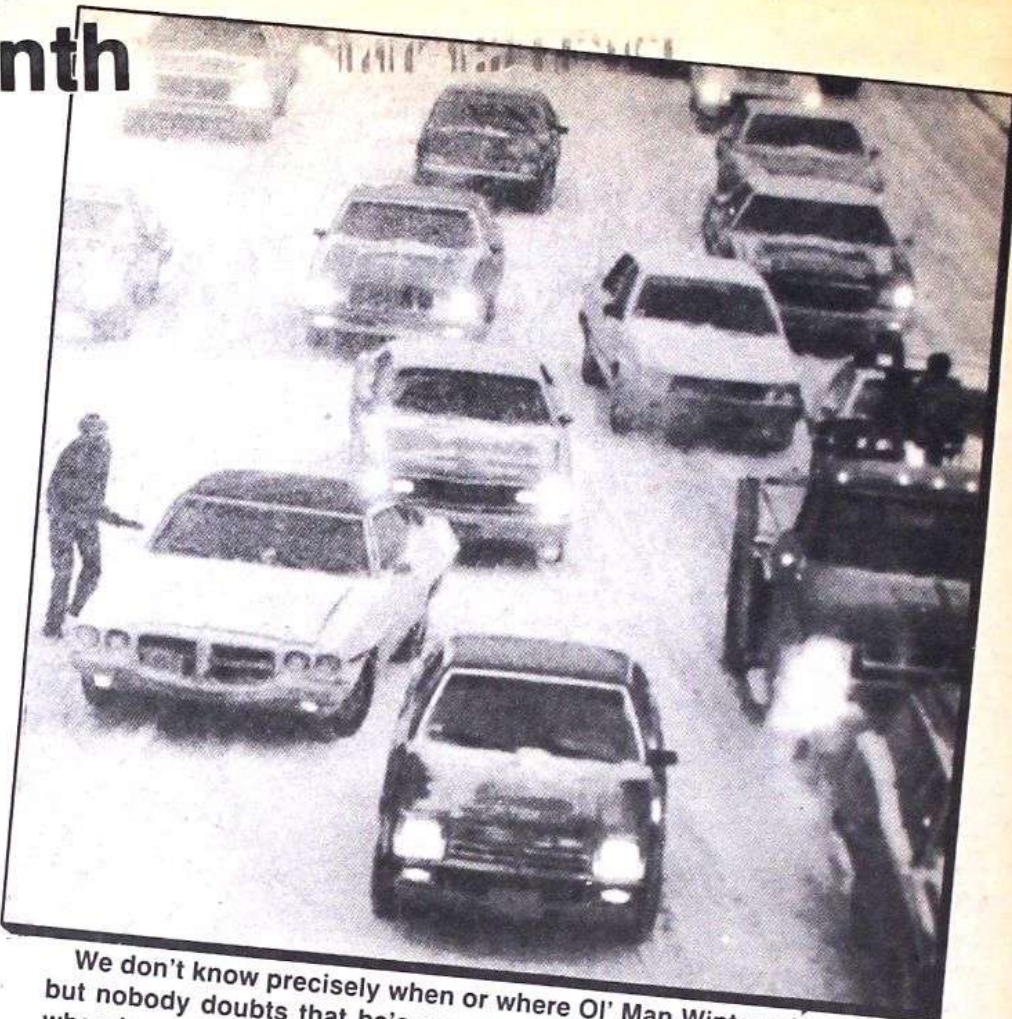

Promoted nationwide initially by Car Care Council and the Ohio Department of Energy last year, it caught on swiftly, spurred by a barrage of publicity in the nation's newspapers, on radio and television and in magazines.

Last year, governors of eight states declared the month National Car Care Month. In 1983, according to Car Care Council, that number is expected to triple.

This means to motorists a blitz of helpful car care information from the media; valuable "specials" from participating automotive service and parts outlets; clinics; demonstrations; community programs and other activities to advance the idea of vehicle maintenance.

The end result will be safer and more fuel-efficient vehicles on our highways, plus savings for people who practice preventive rather than corrective maintenance.

We don't know precisely when or where Ol' Man Winter will strike, but nobody doubts that he's even now scheduling his return. And when he arrives and you get caught up in a situation like this, you don't need the added anxiety of wondering if your car will pay you back for neglecting its maintenance by conking out in the middle of the parade. Now is the time to get ready for winter. Take a tip from the Boy Scouts: Be prepared!

Cars becoming victims of caustic additives

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Any machine, whether it is an automobile, a tractor, or the human body, only operates as well as the fuel that goes into it.

The quality of gasoline that goes into the tank of the family auto can mean the difference between a finely tuned, reliable car, and a sputtering, stalling pain in the neck that seems intent on bleeding your wallet dry.

Bill Taylor, who owns and operates two Shell stations in the Belleville area, believes that some motorists are not getting what they are paying for at some of the stations in the area.

"This stuff just eats rubber and plastic parts inside the engine and carburetor... Stick with better brands and someone you have dealt with for a long time." —Bill Taylor

"Some operators are placing additives in the fuel they are selling that can highly damage the engine in a car," said Taylor. "People think they are getting a bargain by paying a little less for the gas, but when they come back to have us rebuild a burned up engine, then it wasn't so much of a bargain after all."

Two particular additives are found in today's fuel according to Taylor. One is ethanol, a common blend of alcohol which, when mixed with gasoline in a 10 percent ratio, produces the so-called "gasohol" mixture that has been marketed for some time. This blend, in these proportions, can actually help a car run a little better. The ethanol boosts the octane of the fuel, which in turn, makes the car run smoother.

Methanol is the other common additive. In very small amounts, methanol can do serious harm to a modern-day automobile.

"This stuff just eats rubber and plastic parts inside the engine and carburetor," said Taylor. "Some stations have been found mixing methanol almost 70 percent with gasoline. At that rate, I'm surprised the car could pull away from the pump afterward."

"An average station pumps probably 100,000 gallons a month," said Taylor. "If these guys are saving 40 to 50 cents per gallon, that adds up to a lot of cash. Plus, they are beating the state out of the taxes they are supposed to be paying on the gallons of gas they pump."

Taylor became aware of the problem some time back when a customer brought in a car for carburetor work. Taylor's chief mechanic, Greg Glasser, replaced the defective part with a completely rebuilt model. Less than two months later, the same customer was in again, with the same problems.

"We took the carb off, took it apart, and found that some of the parts inside were almost completely worn out," said Glasser. "When I called the firm that does our carburetor rebuilding, they told me that the methanol in the gas was eating the parts away almost overnight."

What is the solution to this problem? Buy quality gasoline, according to Taylor.

"Stick with the better brands, and try to buy from someone you have dealt with for a long time," said Taylor. "All I know is that the gas I'm pumping at my stations has no additives. Other than that, I can't speak for anyone else."

"So far, I'm having the most profitable year of my life in this business. We are averaging 10 engine rebuilds a month, which is an awfully high number. I don't want to profit at these people's expense though. If they would just pay a few cents extra for their gas, they could save themselves a lot of grief, and even more money."

Living the 'American Dream'

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Orville and Pat Tompkins, who own and operate two Tidy Car Associate dealerships in the Ypsilanti area, call themselves examples of the American Dream, and it is easy to see why.

The Tompkins started their business in their barn in Chelsea four and a half years ago, and since then the business has flourished quickly enough to

"Orville and I are examples of the American Dream. We own our own business. We are expecting to have a super year since we were able to hang in there all during the tough times of the early 80s."

—Pat Tompkins

warrant the purchase of two central locations in Ypsilanti.

The secret of the Tidy Car system, according to Pat Tompkins, is the series of Tidy Car products that her establishments use. Paint cleaners, tools, sealants, fabric protectors and rust proofing chemicals are all stocked and applied at the businesses by personnel trained to do things the right way.

"We are friendly, well informed, and knowledgeable about our processes," said Tompkins. "We treat our customers and their vehicles as we would like to be treated."

Tidy Car establishments around the country are owned and operated by people who want to own their own business, and do so on a franchise basis. The company originated eight years ago with a single product, and has since grown into one of the world's leading companies dealing with auto appearance products.

The Tompkins call late summer-early autumn and early spring and summer their best months for business. Things have been so busy lately that Orville Tompkins has left his job at Hoover Universal in Manchester to devote

"We are friendly, well informed and knowledgeable about our processes. We treat our customers and their vehicles as we would like to be treated."

—Pat Tompkins

his full time and energy to the Tidy Car businesses.

"Orville and I are examples of the American Dream," said Pat. "We own our own business. We are expecting to have a super year — since we were able to hang in there all during the tough times of the early 80's. Now things are really picking up. Business is great."

The Tompkins claim that 75 percent of their business comes from referrals and word of mouth advertising, so ask your friends. Maybe the reason their car shines so nicely is because it has been to Tidy Car lately.

For rent McDonald's has the answer to small car squeeze

The new family compact is great on gas, a dream to park and handles with more ease than one could imagine — but, how do you cram two teenagers, an 8-year-old and the dog into the back seat for a three-hour drive to the cottage? Or how about that football game with all the neighbors? Half the fun is the ride to the campus, including the tail gate picnic.

McDonald Rent-A-Car has the answer, and it's a solution that more and more local residents are using. Rent a car or even better, a super, custom luxury van for that special long trip...and save money doing it.

"We have more than 150 vans and luxury custom vans available for rent, and they are more and more popular," explained Pat Fair, the rental manager at the Garden City office of McDonald located on Ford Road.

Fair explained that people seem to just now be discovering the availability of rental cars and vans. "I think that people just didn't know these vehicles were available. McDonald was the first dealer in the area to rent custom luxury vans and we're still in the process of educating the public that they can be rented," she said.

The vans, which come as complete as the client might wish, usually will seat 8 to 15 people and, according to Fair, are very popular for color tours, concerts, golf vacations, trips to the south for family vacations and whenever a vehicle large enough for a family outing is needed.

McDonald also rents compact cars, larger family size cars and has a limosine and driver available for those really special occasions.

"McDonald has been in business for 17 years, and we've been renting vehicles for a long time, Fair said. "We can suit just about any need — after all, we have more than 400 vehicles available in the fleet."

The dealer has locations in Detroit and Northville in addition to Garden City.

"When you divide the cost of travel among the number of passengers a van can accommodate, the price of the trip really goes down," Fair concluded.

Automotive touch up getting a little tougher

Is your car beginning to show its age? Are there scars and scratches in the finish? Are tiny spots of rust beginning to peer out from under paint blisters?

If so, then it sounds like it is time to get out the sandpaper, the primer and the paint. Especially at this time of year, before the harsh winter weather and road salt gets to the body of the car, it is important to attack these blemishes before it's too late.

Don Witt, general manager of Painter's Supply and Equipment, has some advice for would-be auto body fixers.

"Realize before you get started that the finished product is only as good as the preparation that goes into the project," said Witt. "A lot of elbow grease, and patience is required to do the job right."

Witt has been dealing with paint for almost 30 years, and he admits that the medium is still as mystifying as ever.

"I was in computers before," said Witt, "where one and one equals two. It has never been that way in this business. You can take the same can of paint, applied by two different people, and get completely different results."

Witt also advises the novice to visit a store, such as Painter's Supply, before diving into the job.

"People should stay away from the so-called 'supermarket' type of auto stores," said Witt. "Here, we have the time, the expertise, and the products to help a beginner do things the right way. When you need dental surgery, you go to a dental surgeon. When you need paint for your car, you should go to a paint jobber."

Witt also commented that it will be tougher than ever for a novice to work with paint in the future.

"The colors are getting fancier and fancier every year," said Witt. "It used to be that a clear coat was basically a custom finish. Now several cars are coming out of the factory with clear on them. Also, some of the 1984 cars are even getting 'pearl' finishes on them."

A 'pearl' finish is one that the iridescent quality usually credited to a shiny pearl, or fish scale.

"The paint game is changing all the time," said Witt. "Probably half of the products in this building didn't exist seven or eight years ago. Now we are getting cars like the Pontiac Fiero, with plastic body panels. That creates the need for flexible paints that will give with the panels."

"Paints are getting more durable," said Witt. "But it still is good practice to wax your car at least once a year, keep it clean, and always bear in mind the paint is a delicate finish, that can be scratched or marred very easily."

Car Care Month

In Michigan, the Automobile Club checked more than 7,000 vehicles in free car care clinics throughout the state.

The North Carolina Department of Energy took Car Care Month to the state fair, using information for public service announcements.

One of the program's most active participants, Alaska's Division of Energy and Power Development, used the Car Care Month theme during a session of free emissions testing in Fairbanks and three car care maintenance clinics in Anchorage.

In a number of communities across the nation, suppliers of automotive products and services used company vans to conduct safety and emission checks on thousands of cars at no charge to the motorists.

Why stage a National Car Care Month?

The average car on the nation's roads these days is about seven years of age. Combine that fact with a tight economy and growing maintenance neglect due to the self-serve gas stations, and there emerges the specter of an approaching winter laden with potential trouble. Good reason for a special effort to draw attention to the need for better car care.

S and R Auto, a success story

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Like the barber shop and the corporate board room, the auto parts store has always been largely inhabited by the male of the species. And, like the barber shop and the corporate board room, the auto parts store has seen a change in things in the last few years.

One such example is S and R Auto Parts, located on South Street in Belleville, owned by Sharon and Richard Grishaber. The Grishabers have lived in Belleville all of their lives and while both own the shop, Sharon actually oversees the day-to-day activities of the business.

"My husband and I both were working in factories," said Sharon. "I worked at Hydramatic, and Richard worked at Ford Ypsilanti. We got laid off a couple of years back in the middle of the recession, and then ran out of benefits and income. We knew we had to do something."

"This is what Richard knew the most about," said Sharon. "So we scraped up all of our cash and bought the building. I didn't know the first thing about this business when we started, but boy, have I learned a lot since."

S and R has been open just over two years now, and the Grishabers have had no regrets.

"Business has been good," said Sharon. "We just purchased the rest of this building, and we plan to open a machine shop here within three months. This area has a real need for something like this."

There are two more females in the Grishaber family, daughters Angela, 6, and Christie, 8. Will these two follow in mom's footsteps?

"It's hard to tell right now," said Sharon. "Sometimes, they like to come down to the store to help out, but other times, they tell me they are sick of car parts. I suppose by the time they get old enough to be working full time, they will have seen more parts than they ever want to look at."

Stacy Hage, Sharon Grishaber, Charlie Reinhard and Dan Whitt are a few of the people who make S and R Auto Parts a success.

No starts top list of motoring miseries

If you had trouble starting your car last year, you were not alone, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

In 1982, the Auto Club received nearly 755,000 calls for road service, a 9.5 percent increase over 1981. Nationally, AAA clubs responded to 17.3 million calls last year from members, 7.4 percent more than in 1981.

Starting troubles headed the list of automobile-operating difficulties by accounting for 45 percent of all emergency road service calls. Serious mechanical failures which required vehicle towing was the second largest category of motoring miseries, totaling 35 percent.

Flat tires accounted for 10 percent of all vehicle breakdowns, while 4 percent of all calls were from members seeking assistance because they ran out of gas, lost their keys or locked themselves out of their automobiles.

The remaining 6 percent of all vehicle breakdowns involved miscellaneous difficulties too varied to categorize.

"Our records show that nearly one-third of Michigan motorists will experience a no-start this winter and 60 percent of those have repeat problems," said Robert Tellier, Auto Club's Emergency Road Service manager.

"To guard against starting problems this winter, motorists should check the six fluid levels, battery terminals, air filter, belts and hoses, tire pressure, lights and wiper blades to be sure they are in proper working order," said Tellier, who also advises motorists to consult their owners' manuals for other maintenance items.

To encourage motorists to keep their vehicles properly maintained, October has been declared Car Care Month by Gov. James J. Blanchard and the Michigan Legislature.

Penny wise... and dollar foolish

Since seven of every 10 motorists pump their own gasoline, there is a greater need than ever for Michigan drivers to be sure their cars are prepared properly for the cold-weather season, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Because motorists save about 15 to 20 cents per gallon, 72 percent of the gasoline sold in the United States is self serve," said Robert Tellier, Auto Club's Emergency Road Service manager. "Those dollars saved at the gas pump could be going up in smoke in the form of costly auto repairs if proper maintenance steps aren't followed."

"Motorists who pump their own gasoline sometimes neglect preventative maintenance checkups," Tellier said. "It is important that drivers follow the maintenance schedules in their owners' manuals and do routine checks, such as the engine oil, themselves."

October is Michigan Car Care Month and the Auto Club's 12 do-it-yourself maintenance procedures are designed to help ensure trouble-free starts this winter.

Any motorist — armed with a screwdriver, tire pressure gauge and anti-freeze hydrometer — can make the dozen pre-winter checks in less than 30 minutes.

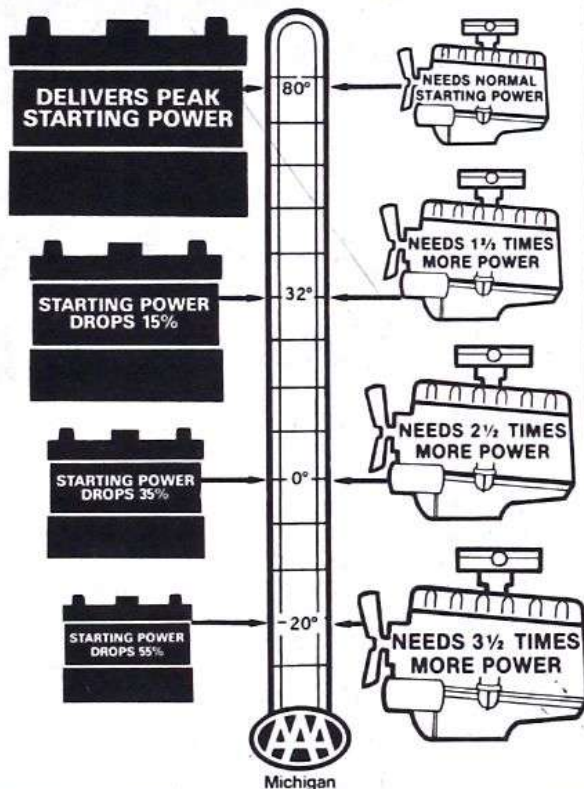

"The 12 checks are easy enough to perform by anyone who can start a car," Tellier said. "The benefit is a vehicle in good running condition all winter long."

An Auto Club survey of more than 7,000 vehicles checked during last year's car care clinics showed that 85 percent had at least one defect. Slightly more than half of the vehicles checked had deficiencies, which if left unattended, could have resulted in breakdowns. The average vehicle

CAR'S BATTERY POWER DROPS with MERCURY

As the temperature drops, so does the cranking power of a car's battery. The Automobile Club of Michigan estimates that three of 10 motorists will experience a "can't start" this winter. In most instances it is because of an improperly maintained battery or one weakened by a futile attempt to start a balky engine. The Auto Club urges motorists to check their batteries' fluid level, keep them free of acid corrosion build-up and make sure cable connections and hold-down clamps are tight and clean. A battery in top shape will only produce dependable starts when other engine components are in adjustment.

AAA fights thieves, promotes car maintenance

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Automobile Club of Michigan conducted an "Auto Care Clinic" at the Westland Mall last Tuesday, and several area residents took advantage of two free services.

The AAA gave any interested motorist a 12-point check of their car. Items such as belts, tires and fluid levels were checked and evaluated, and at the Wayne-Westland AAA Branch. "That is too much trouble for most thieves to go through. They used to be able to just change the serial number on the dash and get away with it. Now it isn't so easy."

The AAA serviced about 250 cars at the clinic, far fewer than Morelli expected.

"We had the clinic on one of the nicest days of the fall, and I think that kept the numbers down," said Morelli.

"In order for someone to steal the car, and get away with it, they would have to change all the glass in the car. That is too much trouble for most thieves." — motorists were given a pamphlet telling them how to properly maintain these parts of their cars.

Another service offered was glass etching. The AAA etched the vehicle identification number of the automobile into the side windows, windshield and rear window of each car servicing as a deterrent to car theft.

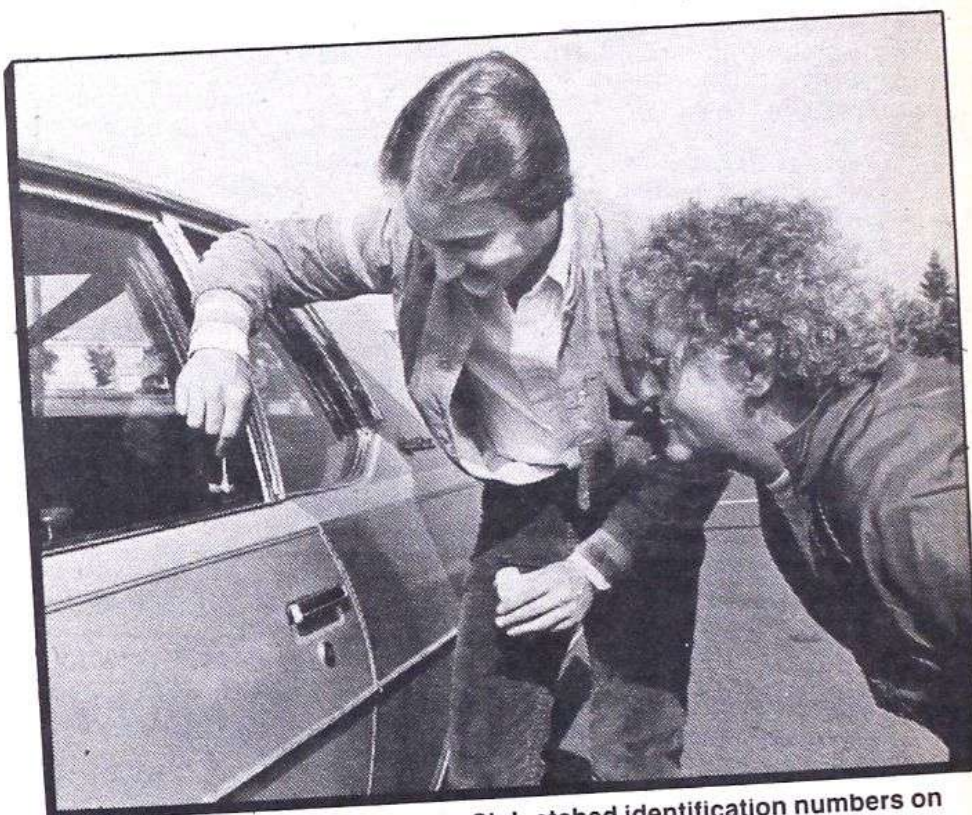

"In order for someone to steal the car, and get away with it, they would have to change all the glass in the car," said Henry Morelli, the manager

"People weren't thinking about winter and their cars on such a nice day.

"We weren't dissatisfied with the totals, though. We helped out quite a few people."

Morelli also commented that he wasn't sure at this time whether the auto club would continue this service.

"To assemble the team we have, and transport them all over the state, is a very expensive proposition," said Morelli. "Whether or not this will continue is up in the air right now."

Rob Heeren of the Automobile Club etched identification numbers on all the windows of Dorothy Lacny's car at the recent car care day.

Benefits from babying that battery

Once or twice a month, check the level of the water in the battery, if yours is the type with removable caps. Keep the top of the battery case clean. Watch for accumulations of greenish-white corrosion on the terminals and the top of the case. Small deposits can be brushed off without removing the battery, but it's more effective to take out the battery and wash it down with a solution of water and baking soda. Use a cloth dipped in this solution to clean the battery carrier, hold-down and the clamps on the ends of the cables.

When the battery eventually needs replacement, don't try to save money by buying one that doesn't have enough capacity. Battery capacity is measured in ampere hours (the number of hours it takes to discharge the battery under an electrical load of a given number of amperes). A replacement battery should have an ampere-hour capacity at least equal to that of the original equipment battery. If you add major accessories such as air conditioning, your car will need a battery of higher capacity than the one that came with the car.

Tread carefully...

Tire expert offers advice for buyers

By ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

Snow tires are an important purchase for car owners concerned with safe winter driving.

Jim Harlowe, owner of Harlowe Tire in Westland, points out that a radial snow tire has 45 percent more traction capability than a regular radial tire.

Year-round use of snow tires, however, is neither necessary nor economical. "Because of the openness of the tread," Harlowe explains, "the life of a snow tire is 20 to 25 percent shorter than that of a regular tire. When used for cool weather only, a radial snow tire should last 40,000, and a bias ply tire 30,000 miles."

Harlowe recommends that, during a normal winter, snow tires be placed on the rear wheels of a passenger car between mid-October and mid-November, and be removed between mid-March and May.

Check old snow tires before remounting, he advises. If tread is less than 5/32 inches deep, new snow tires are needed.

Since mounting and dismounting is hard on the tires as well as the pocketbook, Harlowe advises that a new car owner invest in snow tires mounted on wheels, and recommends that regular tires be rotated from front to rear between seasons.

When purchasing snow tires, consumers should look for an open, aggressive tread pattern — an important factor now that the government no longer regulates tread width.

"Snow tire prices," Harlowe says, "range from $29 to $80, with size, quality, tire type and the reputation of the dealer important considerations."

Since weight of a tire is also a clue to rubber density, a heavier tire usually indicates better quality rubber.

checked was 5.6 years old, while the national average is 7.2.

The Auto Club recommends motorists learn how to do the following 12 items on a cold, non-running engine with the exception of the automatic transmission fluid:

- Check motor oil level.
- Brake fluid level should be within a quarter-inch of the top of the master cylinder. The screwdriver is needed to pry off the clip that holds the cover of the brake fluid chamber.
- Fill the windshield washer reservoir with a good commercial solvent to prevent freezing.
- Check the level and strength of antifreeze in the radiator. Some cars have overflow tanks where the coolant can be checked. Strength of antifreeze can be checked easily with the hydrometer.
- Power steering fluid level can be checked on a dipstick similar to the oil. To avoid overfilling, add the fluid gradually and test the level several times.
- Hold the carburetor air filter up to the sun or next to a light. If you can't see through it, it's time for replacement.

• Check the automatic transmission fluid with a dipstick located on most cars behind the engine on the passenger side of the car. The car should be parked on a level grade with the engine running.

• Test for fan belt tension and look for fraying or cracking. Press your thumb on the middle of each drive belt. If the belt gives more than a half-inch, have it tightened or replaced. Also inspect hoses and connections for leaks.

• Clean battery terminals and dirty cables with a baking soda and water solution, and check the battery fluid level.

• Turn on all lights and turn signals to make sure they work.

• Check tire pressure with a gauge and inspect tread wear. Don't forget to check the spare.

• Check windshield wipers and replace them if worn.

Tellier advised motorists to make these checks on a monthly basis, with the exception of motor oil which should be checked with every tank of gas.

Getting started--not STUCK

Motorists can take precautions now to help guarantee easy-to-start cars before sub-zero temperatures strike Michigan this winter, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Gas tanks should be filled to avoid fuel line freeze-up and the car should be parked in a garage if possible," advises Robert Tellier, Auto Club's Emergency Road Service manager.

"If a garage is not available, park the vehicle with its back to prevailing winds and place a blanket over the hood."

Before starting the engine, motorists should make sure all electrical accessories — radio, heater, lights — are off. Then turn the key on and depress the gas pedal and let it up all the way. Don't keep the starter turning over for more than 10 seconds at a time and resist the temptation to pump the accelerator.

If the carburetor floods (gasoline smell is a telltale sign), push the accelerator to the floor while starting until the engine is cleared of excess fuel. For cars with diesel engines or fuel injection, consult the owner's manual.

If the car becomes stuck in snow, the Auto Club suggests forming runways by rocking the vehicle gently back and forth in increasing lengths. Then try a takeoff.

If that doesn't work, then sprinkle sand or cat litter (any rough course material will work) in the runways, especially around the wheels. Chains or pieces of carpeting also can be used for traction. Don't floor the gas pedal; doing so only will cause the wheels to spin, possibly forming ice beneath.

For winter emergencies, the Auto Club suggests motorists keep the following items in car trunks: jumper cables, tire chains, cat litter or sand, flares, tools (screwdrivers, pliers, adjustable wrench), flashlight, blanket or warm clothing, ice scraper, small shovel and a first aid kit.

Should all efforts fail, turn on emergency flashers to warn other motorists before calling for help.

Do-it-yourselfer Christine Huff checks one of the most neglected items under the hood — antifreeze strength — as part of a pre-winter maintenance program. The Automobile Club of Michigan recommends a simple 12-point program, which if followed properly, is the key to trouble-free driving this winter. The checklist items are: 1. Motor oil dipstick — check level. 2. Master cylinder — check brake fluid level. 3. Windshield washer reservoir — keep it full. 4. Radiator — check coolant level and antifreeze strength. 5. Power steering fluid dipstick — check level. 6. Air filter — replace if dirty. 7. Automatic transmission fluid dipstick — check level with motor running. 8. Belts and hoses — test tension and replace if frayed or cracked. 9. Battery — clean terminals and check fluid level. 10. Lights and turn signals — be sure they work. 11. Tires — check pressure and wear. 12. Windshield wipers — replace if worn.

America is the Number One Nation on Earth and the Number One car market in the entire world. We say Thanks America for making us Number One in our product line with American Motors. We are so proud everything we sell and say is American all the way! Why does Taylor AMC Jeep Renault keep 700 new Cars, Jeep and Trucks in stock? Because they are the largest in the United States. All our deals are based on volume. Therefore, we can sell them for just a few dollars over our cost because we sell such astronomically large numbers of new vehicles. Far less profit per unit is required for us to stay in business. Thus, we pass these fantastic savings on to you, our ever valued customer, and continue to maintain our ever precious and valued name as the Number One Give-A-Way Artists in America. Ladies and gentlemen, these are not good deals... they're a steal.
